North Viets Analyze Peace Plan

MOSCOW (AP) — Pravda's correspondent in Hanoi reported today that President Nixon's peace plan is being "attentively analyzed" by North Vietnamese leaders.

"Outwardly these proposals could be seen as something new," correspondent A. Serbin wrote, "but here, in the political circles of Hanoi, their real contents are being attentively analyzed and note is being taken of what is hidden behind the new cover."

He said Nixon's offer to withdraw all U.S. forces within six months after an agreement does not reply to the Viet Cong demand for an unconditional U.S. withdrawal after a firm date has been named.

Serbin said the cease-fire proposed by Nixon is regarded in Hanoi as "a striving on the one hand to retain pro-American regimes in countries of Indochina and on the other to deprive the peoples of these countries of the opportunity to fight for their rights of self-determination."

Nixon's proposal for new elections in South Vietnam came in for the sharpest criticism.

"Local political circles note that the so-called 'elections' ... will only repeat the farce of the presidential elections held in Vietnam last October," Serbin said.

U.N. Council Opens Meeting

Haile Selassie Welcomes Diplomats

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) — Emperor Haile Selassie welcomed the U.N. Security Council to Africa today with a plea that it move from talk to action on the problems of racism and colonialism in the continent.

Opening the council's first meeting outside New York in nearly 20 years, the emperor said the 15-nation body and the United Nations "clearly stand to be judged before the collective conscience of humanity on the issues."

"What is called for is for the international community to move from mere rejection and condemnation to taking action," Selassie told the delegates and several hundred spectators in a crowded meeting hall.

The emotionally charged issues of white rule in Rhodesia, South Africa, South-West Africa and the Portuguese territories of Angola and Mozambique will dominate the week-long meeting. But no progress toward a solution of any of them appears likely.

A spokesman for the three African members of the council—Guinea, Somalia and Sudan—said Britain's proposed independence settlement with Rhodesia would top the agenda. Resolutions were also expected concerning South Africa's apartheid policy of racial separation, the white South African government's refusal to quit South-West Africa, and Portugal's continued colonial presence in Africa.

The meeting is being held in Africa Hall, the modern conference center that is the home of the U.N. Economic Commission for Africa.

The 41-member Organization of African Unity urged that the council move to Africa temporarily to expose the members to "African realities." Over the weekend the delegates will pay an overnight visit to Mogadishu, capital of neighboring Somalia.

Big Banks Cut Interest Rates

NEW YORK (AP) — Two of the nation's biggest commercial banks said today they were trimming their floating base interest rates—similar to prime rates—used by most other banks—to 4½ per cent effective Monday.

The prime rate has not been at 4½ per cent since 1965.

First National City Bank, second largest in the country, cut its rate from the 4 level it had set a week earlier. Irving Trust Co., 13th biggest, said its rate would come down from 4½ per cent.

ice for the week ending Jan. 18. The government's rules governing pay and prices are becoming increasingly complex. A recent booklet, published at 35 cents a copy and available through the U.S. Superintendent of Documents in Washington, takes more than 40 pages of fine print to list all the rules in place as of Jan. 1.

More rulings have been issued since then, and major additions and revisions are in the works.

Hanoi Offered $2.5 Billion U.S. Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — North Vietnam was told last year it might get up to $2.5 billion of a potential $7.5-billion, five-year U.S. postwar reconstruction program for Indochina following a peace settlement Nixon administration officials have disclosed.

Administration strategists said also that the test still lies ahead on whether Hanoi will negotiate seriously on President Nixon's eight-point peace offer.

A current theory here is that North Vietnam and the Viet Cong, reportedly building up for an offensive next month, will want to decide first whether South Vietnam can defend itself without U.S. troops and whether Nixon's offer has wide public support in the United States.

Secretary of State William P. Rogers told newsmen Thursday he was somewhat encouraged because North Vietnamese negotiators did not reject Nixon's plan as it was publicly presented at Paris that morning, though they piled invective on it. He said it was a good sign that they asked questions about it.

But Rogers acknowledged the continuing clash of goals. He said that a "Communist government takeover" in Saigon and "we can't accept that."

In his Tuesday night disclosure of secret negotiations by presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger in Paris, Nixon said an aid offer was made last July 26, but he gave no figures.

Fat Raises Approved By Trainmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 42 per cent pay raise over 3½ years is in store for 140,000 trainmen according to a contract the United Transportation Union has signed with the railroad industry.

The new contract, announced Thursday by the UTU and the National Railway Labor Conference, also contains new work rules the industry says will enable it to speed service and save millions.

The union had been refusing to implement the agreement, reached tentatively last Aug. 2 at the end of an 18-day strike. It had demanded assurances that any of the pay raises would not be cut by wage and price controls.

The Pay Board Tuesday adopted a resolution clearing the contract from its starting date of Jan. 1, 1970, to the present, and saying it intends to approve this year's scheduled 10 per cent raises if the work rules go into effect.

Among the changes the industry wanted are more flexible seniority, longer train runs between crew changes, more elimination of extra pay for use of two-way radios.

body of business, public and union members, regulates wages and salaries. The IRS has assigned 3,000 agents to enforce controls.

Complicated Price Commission rules are aimed at bringing the average increase in all prices to no more than 2.5 per cent this year.

The Pay Board's general standard, which the board itself has frequently ignored for big, powerful unions, is that wages in new contracts can't go up more than 5.5 per cent a year, or 7 per cent in some narrowly defined special circumstances.

Not all wages and prices are subject to controls. The Cost of Living Council has exempted roughly 21 per cent of the average man's cost of living from federal controls.

The list of uncontrolled items includes raw farm products, raw seafood, life insurance and some individually contracted commercial insurance, postal rates, some custom products and services, exports, imports, damaged and used products and sales of U.S. government property.

Also most real estate, rentals of new and rehabilitated housing, owner-occupied rentals of no more than four units, commercial and farm rents, stocks and bonds, stock brokers' fees, most tuition, interest, pay of Americans working and living abroad, pay of federal workers, federal fees and charges, wages below the $1.60 hourly federal minimum.

In addition, retailers with less than $100,000 a year in revenues aren't controlled.

would be an admission of guilt by the United States.

For this reason Nixon's response totaled eight points instead of nine, they said, and the prospective U.S. aid following the war was outlined separately.

The $7.5 billion for the two Vietnams, Cambodia and Laos, if it came to pass, would be a massive amount by current U.S. economic-aid standards.

Administration officials said that the "illustrative" figure of $7.5 billion over 5 years for Indochina's reconstruction, with up to one-third going to North Vietnam, was given after Hanoi envoys had presented their secret nine-point settlement plan.

One of the nine points called for reparations, the officials said. They said the reparations demand was rejected because, in the U.S. view, to pay this of two more American aircraft to mechanical failures.

The command said the strike inside North Vietnam was triggered Thursday afternoon when a radar site which controls a surface-to-air missile—SAM—began tracking U.S. planes conducting bombing operations against the Ho Chi Minh trail in neighboring Laos.

An F105 fighter used to draw enemy fire away from the slower B52 heavy bombers crossed into North Vietnam and fired one Shrike missile at the site with unknown results.

The command said there was no damage to U.S. aircraft.

The two aircraft lost were a Navy A7 jet that crashed shortly after taking off from a 7th Fleet carrier in the Tonkin Gulf Jan. 22 and a UH1 Huey helicopter that went down three days ago on the western side of the central highlands.

The pilot of the A7 was rescued and there were no casualties in the helicopter crash.

Gen. Cao Van Vien, chairman of South Vietnam's joint general staff, visited the border region along the central highlands today to review preparations for a North Vietnamese offensive expected there next month.

Vien conferred with the regional commander, Lt. Gen. Ngo Dzu, then took a helicopter to inspect some outposts including Ben Het.

Westinghouse Hit By Strike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Westinghouse Electric Corp. plant halted production Friday because of a wildcat strike.

A union official said he hoped the walkout could be ended before a second shift of workers was due to report.

James Humphreys president of Local 746 of the International Union of Electrical Workers, said most of the 3,000 hourly employees on the company's first shift refused to work after grievance negotiations with the firm broke down.

Picket lines were set up outside the plant about 4:30 a.m. but were withdrawn by 6:30 a.m.

The Agency for International Development figures its worldwide economic-aid authorization this year at $1.87 billion. Nixon is seeking $2.25 billion for next year.

Former President Lyndon B. Johnson proposed a $1-billion postwar economic-development outlay for all of Southeast Asia, including North Vietnam, in his April 1967 peace offer.

Spokesmen at Pleiku said electric sensors detected a company of North Vietnamese troops 5½ miles west of the base Thursday night and moving toward it. Artillery and helicopter gunships went into action, but the results were not known, the spokesmen said.

Nursing Home Laws Pondered

Cincinnati Fire Probe Continues

CINCINNATI (AP)—Plans for tougher legislation for nursing homes were argued today while a mass funeral service was planned in suburban Lincoln Heights for nine elderly women.

Ohio Gov. John Gilligan planned to tour the site of the Green Nursing Home where nine of 10 patients died in a fire Wednesday morning.

He said Thursday that an investigation showed the nursing home complied with state safety regulations, but added: "Obviously there are deficiencies both in our laws and our inspections."

With him on the tour were Ohio Fire Marshal Robert Lynch and Health Director John Cashman.

Arthur Fleming, President Nixon's special correspondent on aging, also planned to visit the site.

State Rep. Norman Murdock, R-Cincinnati, said he had taken initial steps toward drafting legislation "tightening up and updating" state laws relating to the licensing of nursing homes.

Murdock, chairman of the House Committee on Health, Education and Welfare, said he had asked the state fire marshal for recommendations on any changes in nursing home regulations, inspection procedures and enforcement. He said they would introduce the legislation in the current session of the Ohio General Assembly.

In a separate statement Thursday the Ohio Nursing Home Association urged that the incident not be used as an excuse for tighter restrictions on the nursing home industry.

Ask Waynesville For Donations

To Aid Policing

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Residents of nearby Waynesville were asked today to donate money for a deputy to police the Warren County village on a fulltime basis.

Door-to-door solicitations will be made today and Saturday to raise $3,000 to pay the deputy's expenses.

Voters had rejected levies for operating funds, and the police department closed Jan. 1. But Charles Lemay continues to serve as police chief on a volunteer basis. State law requires villages to have a police chief or have their charters revoked.

The Warren County Sheriff's office has been answering calls in Waynesville since Jan. 1. Sheriff Roy Wallace said that he would provide the village a fulltime officer if funds could be raised to pay the deputy's expenses and provide operating costs of a cruiser the village now has in storage.

Confusion Over Wage And Price Controls Is Clarified

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has tried to make it perfectly clear that pay-price controls will stay until they work. But the controls themselves apparently aren't clear to the public.

The Internal Revenue Service has received more than one million inquiries about the rules, more than half of them on rents.

And the questions keep on coming. Latest figures show 117,000 inquiries were received by the Internal Revenue Service for the week ending Jan. 18.

The government's rules governing pay and prices are becoming increasingly complex. A recent booklet, published at 35 cents a copy and available through the U.S. Superintendent of Documents in Washington, takes more than 40 pages of fine print to list all the rules in place as of Jan. 1.

More rulings have been issued since then, and major additions and revisions are in the works.

It is far too early to tell if these rules will achieve the administration's goal of reducing last year's 3.4-per-cent inflation rate to between 2 and 3 per cent by the end of this year.

But the major outline of the administration's anti-inflation machinery, as it evolved over the past 2½ months, is now clear.

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The search for two Ohio Penitentiary escapees shifted to the Cincinnati area this morning, following the release of a suburban Columbus man whom they allegedly forced to drive them to Queen City.

Erwin Sharp returned to his home in suburban Hilliard early today, and was being questioned by Hilliard police. Sharp told authorities the men let him go unharmed after getting out of his car on Ohio 50 near Cincinnati. He was released about 11:30 p.m. Thursday.

According to police, Sharp was told by the men to drive them to Covington, Ky., where they picked up a .32-caliber revolver.

Police said they were not sure how the men obtained the revolver in Covington. Police said the men had been positively identified as Donald G. Manis, 28, and Donald Ferdinand, 34, who escaped from the 134-year-old penitentiary Wednesday night.

A police spokesman said a motorist reported he picked up the two escapees hitchhiking earlier Thursday and had dropped them at the Hilliard address.

The motorist recognized the men from newspaper photographs, the spokesman said, and called police after letting the escapees out of his car.

When police went to the Sharp home, Mrs. Sharp told officers her husband had been abducted and she was afraid to call authorities, the spokesman added.

Manis, Ferdinand and another convict, James Lewis, 33, pulled off the first escape from inside the penitentiary since the Civil War by scaling the prison's south wall.

Lewis was apprehended Thursday morning in suburban Grandview.

Prison officials said the three had been working as plumbers when they apparently crawled through a ventilating system, kicked out a vent, walked across a roof and lowered themselves down the wall with a rope.

When captured, Lewis complained of pains in his hip and back from injuries apparently suffered when he dropped from the rope onto some trash cans.

Lewis was serving a 20-year sentence for a 1969 Toledo bank robbery. Manis was in for life for a 1967 Stark County murder, and Ferdinand was sent to the prison last year for a 10-25-year term for assault and armed robbery in Franklin and Cuyahoga counties.

Light Accumulation Possible Today

Snow, Ice Cover Midwest

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Snow, sleet and freezing rain snarled traffic and gave many residents of Ohio, Indiana, Kentucky and West Virginia their first real taste of winter Thursday and early today.

Between one and three inches of snow fell over Ohio late Thursday and early Friday. Most points reported flurries ending around sunrise.

A low moving northeast through Tennessee and Kentucky was responsible for the wintry weather.

Occasional snow was forecast over the state today, but less than one inch additional accumulation was expected.

Lows tonight are expected to dip to the teens and 20s, while Saturday will reach the 20s and low 30s, under cloudy to partly-cloudy skies.

The outlook through Tuesday calls for highs in the 20s to low 40s lows in the teens to upper 20s, with a chance of rain or snow.

Major highways were reported clear, but there were icy patches on bridges in the north and rush-hour morning traffic in metropolitan areas often slowed to a snail's pace. The National Weather Service had a flash flood watch in effect early in the day for southwestern West Virginia.

Travelers warnings carried over from Thursday night remained in effect for most of the region today.

Numerous minor traffic accidents were reported, but police in Cincinnati noted that drivers were if anything "overly cautious," and thereby compounded the traffic bottlenecks. In Columbus a car-truck accident on the city's icy East Freeway shortly after midnight today left the semi jack-knifed and traffic snarled in eastbound lanes until late morning.

Schools were closed in the Kentucky counties of Ballard, Carlisle, Graves, Marshall and McCracken, as were some in the Cincinnati area. Taxi service in the Queen City was suspended due to the icy conditions.

Highway crews worked through the night in many areas as snow continued to fall in the north and sleet and rain pelted areas to the south. Speed regulations on expressways were intensified in some areas such as the Cleveland Shoreway, where 30 mile-per-hour limits were in effect.

Paducah, Ky., was without electricity for several hours Thursday evening after ice-laden power lines and transformers broke down.

The National Weather Service predicted more of the same throughout today, with some relief in sight for the area Saturday.

20th North Viet Air Strike Hits Missile, Radar Nest

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. Command reported today the 20th air strike inside North Vietnam this year and the loss of two more American aircraft to mechanical failures.

The command said the strike inside North Vietnam was triggered Thursday afternoon when a radar site which controls a surface-to-air missile—SAM—began tracking U.S. planes conducting bombing operations against the Ho Chi Minh trail in neighboring Laos.

An F105 fighter used to draw enemy fire away from the slower B52 heavy bombers crossed into North Vietnam and fired one Shrike missile at the site with unknown results.

The command said there was no damage to U.S. aircraft.

The two aircraft lost were a Navy A7 jet that crashed shortly after taking off from a 7th Fleet carrier in the Tonkin Gulf Jan. 22 and a UH1 Huey helicopter that went down three days ago on the western side of the central highlands.

The pilot of the A7 was rescued and there were no casualties in the helicopter crash. Gen. Cao Van Vien, chairman of South Vietnam's joint general staff, visited the border region today to review preparations for a North Vietnamese offensive expected there next month.

Vien conferred with the regional commander, Lt. Gen. Ngo Dzu, then took a helicopter to inspect some outposts including Ben Het.

Military spokesmen said that North Vietnamese troops apparently are attempting to encircle Fire Base 5, just south-east of Ben Het. The fire base was under siege during a North Vietnamese offensive last spring.

Spokesmen at Pleiku said electric sensors detected a company of North Vietnamese troops 5½ miles west of the base Thursday night and moving toward it. Artillery and helicopter gunships went into action, but the results were not known, the spokesmen said.

Fire Base 5 is an artillery outpost in the rugged triborder region where the frontiers of South Vietnam, Cambodia and Laos meet, about 300 miles north of Saigon. It is one of a string of camps that guard South Vietnam's western border.

Phony Moon Coinage Under Fire

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — A Federal Trade Commission official says he will urge the FTC to issue a nationwide warning to the public against purchase of any object purportedly taken to the moon.

Cummings Sanborn, head of the FTC's San Antonio office, said Houston space officials have told him of receiving many complaints about offers to sell coins and stamps that supposedly had been to the moon.

Some coins are selling for up to $700, Sanborn said in an interview Thursday.

Astronauts are not allowed to commercialize anything they take into space, Sanborn said.

Manned Spacecraft Center officials in Houston confirmed they had received many complaints. They said that after the Apollo 15 flight, one firm had announced it had obtained souvenirs taken on the mission, even before the spacecraft's gear had been unpacked.

Sanborn said he learned of the situation after a San Antonio woman complained to his office about a private mint's activities in the moon souvenir field.

Westinghouse Hit By Strike

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Westinghouse Electric Corp. plant halted production Friday because of a wildcat strike.

A union official said he hoped the walkout could be ended before a second shift of workers was due to report.

James Humphreys president of Local 746 of the International Union of Electrical Workers, said most of the 3,000 hourly employees on the company's first shift refused to work after grievance negotiations with the firm broke down.

Picket lines were set up outside the plant about 4:30 a.m. but were withdrawn by 6:30 a.m.

Fat Raises Approved By Trainmen

WASHINGTON (AP) — A 42 per cent pay raise over 3½ years is in store for 140,000 trainmen according to a contract the United Transportation Union has signed with the railroad industry.

The new contract, announced Thursday by the UTU and the National Railway Labor Conference, also contains new work rules the industry says will enable it to speed service and save millions.

The union had been refusing to implement the agreement, reached tentatively last Aug. 2 at the end of an 18-day strike. It had demanded assurances that any of the pay raises would not be cut by wage and price controls.

The Pay Board Tuesday adopted a resolution clearing the contract from its starting date of Jan. 1, 1970, to the present, and saying it intends to approve this year's scheduled 10 per cent raises if the work rules go into effect.

Among the changes the industry wanted are more flexible seniority, longer train runs between crew changes, more elimination of extra pay for use of two-way radios.

Big Banks Cut Interest Rates

NEW YORK (AP) — Two of the nation's biggest commercial banks said today they were trimming their floating base interest rates—similar to prime rates used by most other banks—to 4½ per cent effective Monday.

The prime rate has not been at 4½ per cent since 1965.

First National City Bank, second largest in the country, cut its rate from the 4 level it had set a week earlier. Irving Trust Co., 13th biggest, said its rate would come down from 4½ per cent.

Confusion Over Wage And Price Controls Is Clarified

By BROOKS JACKSON Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration has tried to make it perfectly clear that pay-price controls will stay until they work. But the controls themselves apparently aren't clear to the public.

The Internal Revenue Service has received more than one million inquiries about the rules, more than half of them on rents.

And the questions keep on coming. Latest figures show 117,000 inquiries were received by the Internal Revenue Service for the week ending Jan. 18. The government's rules governing pay and prices are becoming increasingly complex.

A recent booklet, published at 35 cents a copy and available through the U.S. Superintendent of Documents in Washington, takes more than 40 pages of fine print to list all the rules in place as of Jan. 1.

More rulings have been issued since then, and major additions and revisions are in the works.

It is far too early to tell if these rules will achieve the administration's goal of reducing last year's 3.4-per-cent inflation rate to between 2 and 3 per cent by the end of this year.

But the major outline of the administration's anti-inflation machinery, as it evolved over the past 2½ months, is now clear.

POLICY

President Nixon's Cost of Living Council, headed by Treasury Secretary John Connally, retains ultimate authority over the economy. Under it, the seven-member Price Commission regulates prices; the 15-member Pay Board, a dissent-torn body of business, public and union members, regulates wages and salaries. The IRS has assigned 3,000 agents to enforce controls.

Complicated Price Commission rules are aimed at bringing the average increase in all prices to no more than 2.5 per cent this year.

The Pay Board's general standard, which the board itself has frequently ignored for big, powerful unions, is that wages in new contracts can't go up more than 5.5 per cent a year, or 7 per cent in some narrowly defined special circumstances.

Not all wages and prices are subject to controls. The Cost of Living Council has exempted roughly 21 per cent of the average man's cost of living from federal controls.

The list of uncontrolled items includes raw farm products, raw seafood, life insurance and some individually contracted commercial insurance, postal rates, some custom products and services, exports, imports, damaged and used products and sales of U.S. government property.

Also most real estate, rentals of new and rehabilitated housing, owner-occupied rentals of no more than four units, commercial and farm rents, stocks and bonds, stock brokers' fees, most tuition, interest, pay of Americans working and living abroad, pay of federal workers, federal fees and charges, wages below the $1.60 hourly federal minimum.

In addition, retailers with less than $100,000 a year in revenues aren't controlled.

Nursing Home Laws Pondered

Cincinnati Fire Probe Continues

CINCINNATI (AP)—Plans for tougher legislation for nursing homes were argued today while a mass funeral service was planned in suburban Lincoln Heights for nine elderly women.

Ohio Gov. John Gilligan planned to tour the site of the Green Nursing Home where nine of 10 patients died in a fire Wednesday morning.

He said Thursday that an investigation showed the nursing home complied with state safety regulations, but added: "Obviously there are deficiencies both in our laws and our inspections."

With him on the tour were Ohio Fire Marshal Robert Lynch and Health Director John Cashman.

Arthur Fleming, President Nixon's special correspondent on aging, also planned to visit the site.

State Rep. Norman Murdock, R-Cincinnati, said he had taken initial steps toward drafting legislation "tightening up and updating" state laws relating to the licensing of nursing homes.

Murdock, chairman of the House Committee on Health, Education and Welfare, said he had asked the state fire marshal for recommendations on any changes in nursing home regulations, inspection procedures and enforcement. He said they would introduce the legislation in the current session of the Ohio General Assembly.

In a separate statement Thursday the Ohio Nursing Home Association urged that the incident not be used as an excuse for tighter restrictions on the nursing home industry.

Ask Waynesville For Donations To Aid Policing

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Residents of nearby Waynesville were asked today to donate money for a deputy to police the Warren County village on a full-time basis.

Door-to-door solicitations will be made today and Saturday to raise $3,000 to pay the deputy's expenses.

Voters had rejected levies for operating funds, and the police department closed Jan. 1. But Charles Lemay continues to serve as police chief on a volunteer basis. State law requires villages to have a police chief or have their charters revoked.

The Warren County Sheriff's office has been answering calls in Waynesville since Jan. 1. Sheriff Roy Wallace said that he would provide the village a fulltime officer if funds could be raised to pay the deputy's expenses and provide operating costs of a cruiser the village now has in storage.

Federal-Level Black Caucus An Overwhelming Success

WASHINGTON (AP) — The congressional Black Caucus, organized to give the nation's 25 million blacks a voice in Washington, has been almost overwhelmed by success.

Less than a year after it was launched by a dozen House Democrats, the caucus is bursting the seams of its offices, straining its budget and draining the energies of its members and staff.

"Psychologically, this is the most profound political symbol that has ever been offered to black Americans," says Rep. John Conyers Jr., D-Mich., a caucus member.

Blacks have responded to the caucus by deluging it with requests for advice, help and information, contributing money, suggesting projects for it, and duplicating it at the state and local political level.

The caucus is in the process of setting itself up as a nonprofit corporation to protect its identity and give it a tax-exempt status and is considering buying a building to house its growing activities.

Caucus activities have included a conference of black elected officials organized in an effort to build black political power; hearings on racism in the Army at a number of military bases; a conference in Nashville on health problems and programs, and a conference in once this weekend in Baltimore on black business opportunities.

Its members met Wednesday with Jesse Jackson, an associate of the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who is developing a program of black economic liberation, and will meet Sunday with other black political leaders to lay plans for electing uncommitted black delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

Next week, the caucus will petition the Federal Communications Commission for an order requiring the three commercial television networks to give it free time to respond to President Nixon's State of the Union address. If the FCC turns it down, the case will be taken to court.

The caucus is drawing up a "national black agenda" of legislative proposals that the various presidential candidates will be asked to support, and which it hopes to get into the Democratic and Republican platforms.

Services will be 1:30 p.m. Monday at Defenbaugh Funeral Home with the Rev. Carl Wetherell officiating.

Burial will be in Floral Hills Cemetery. Friends may call at the funeral home beginning 7 p.m. Saturday.

Kleindienst Speaker

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Deputy U.S. Atty. Gen. Richard Kleindienst today praised the Nixon administration policies on the Vietnam War and civil rights and predicted President Nixon's reelection this year.

"I'd like to see him elected by acclamation and have another four years to set this country right," Kleindienst said.

Kleindienst was here to attend a regional conference of U.S. attorneys from northern and eastern states under way at Ohio State University's Center for Tomorrow.

He denied that he was "in line" to be named attorney general when U.S. Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell leaves the Justice Department to take over Nixon's campaign.

"Nobody's in line for a job like that," he said. "It's a highly personal matter, the appointment of a cabinet official. I have not discussed it with the attorney general or with the President."

Fire Proves Fatal To Pioneer Couple

Snow, Ice . . .

Arctic cold enveloped most of the midcontinent from the inland Pacific Northwest to the Great Lakes and south to the central Plains.

Ice-storm and freezing-rain warnings were out from Arkansas and Missouri through the Ohio Valley to Tennessee and West Virginia. Ice coated roads, trees and power lines throughout the region and east to Virginia.

Snow stretched from Lake Michigan to New York and Pennsylvania.

Travel warnings were posted from southern Connecticut to New Jersey and eastern Pennsylvania because of combinations of snow sleet and freezing rain.

To the south of the ice belt, rain was common from northern Alabama to Virginia.

The frigid weather in the western half of the nation kept the thermometer in Grand Island, Neb., from rising above -1 all day Thursday.

Rain and freezing rain chilled in northern Texas, while showers and snow flurries were scattered across Oregon and northern California.

Sadat Easily Surmounts Small Threat To Regime

By ROY ESSOYAN
Associated Press Writer

CAIRO (AP) — President Anwar Sadat has survived the first threat to his regime from the public since he took over from Gamal Abdel Nasser more than a year ago. He did it by using restraint.

It was not much of a threat at the start. The milling, chanting demonstrators this week were mostly students. The rest of the public did not join in. But with a little bloodshed it could have gotten out of hand.

The government's restraint deprived the students of a cause, a battle cry to rally the people behind them. Riot police whacked scores of heads, but they were not issued firearms and used only bamboo sticks and tear gas against the rock-throwing students.

If they had shot a few, as they did during the last demonstrations in Cairo in 1968, they could have precipitated city-wide riots that would have posed a real threat to Sadat's basically moderate regime.

It's hard to whip up a riot, let alone a revolt around such battle cries as "Tell us the truth," "Long live Egypt," "Release our arrested student comrades" and "Give us war or peace, but nothing in between."

The students were protesting the double talk they have been getting from the government—fiery official statements calling for the "final battle with Israel" from a government that knows it is no better organized to battle Israel than the previous ones that fought and lost.

The demonstrations appeared to be spontaneous, and the students also were relatively restrained. They seemed too disorganized to be guided by any sinister unseen hand as Sadat charged.

There was no vandalism, no pillaging of shops, not even the posters and banners that normally accompany so-called spontaneous demonstrations in the Arab world.

For two days the disorganized thousands milled through the streets, chanting, waving their fists and scuffling with riot police.

The third day, Wednesday, was the feast of Bairam, the biggest religious holiday of the Moslem year, and the steam went right out of the demonstrators. The riot police disappeared, and the streets filled with holidaying families.

But the trouble is not over. The students are still not satisfied and they may take to the streets again after Bairam ends Saturday.

And Sadat still faces the same dilemma he inherited from Nasser—to go to war or to sue for peace, when he can do neither and survive.

Dr. W. J. Aunan, director of scientific activities of the meat institute, said Thursday that the nitrates are helpful in inhibiting bacterial growth. He added that strict government standards keep the level of nitrates in frankfurters totally safe.

Aunan also questioned the magazine's assertion that its researchers had found excessive bacteria in tested hot-dog samples and its finding that 40 per cent of the samples had begun to spoil.

Consumer Reports further charged that hot dogs were low in nutrition, with a low proportion of protein to filler and fats. Aunan countered, "It is true that many foods, including some meats have a higher percentage of protein, but that does not mean that hot dogs, with an average of 11 to 12 per cent protein, are not nutritious."

The AMI concluded its defense of the hog dog with the argument that 200 million Americans can't be wrong. Hot dogs, it said, are consumed by Americans at the rate of 60 per person a year.

Policeman Proves Prone To Accidents

MT. CLEMENS, Mich. (AP) — Upset by his department's accident record, Chief Jack W. Mast of the Clinton Township police department wants to enroll his men in driver-training school.

"I don't think we have an unusual problem compared with other police departments," Mast said, "but I'd like to see the accidents down to a more acceptable level."

In three years, Mast said members of the 27-man department have been involved in 61 accidents and wrecked patrol cars 43 times.

His men have been at fault in about 60 per cent of the accidents, the chief added.

Had the officers wrecked their private cars, the chief said, they would have lost their driver's licenses by now.

Policemen found to be at fault in traffic accidents while driving on duty in Michigan are immune from prosecution.

As a result of his department's driving habits, Chief Mast said, annual insurance payments have risen from $200 to $500 for each squad car.

Snow Blamed In 4 County Auto Mishaps

Five autos sustained minor damage in four wrecks Thursday but none of their drivers were injured as an inch of swirling snow covered Pickaway County roads.

Only one of the drivers, Carol Hall, 18, Huntington, Ind., was charged in the wrecks.

According to Pickaway County Deputy Sheriff Earl Kuhn, Hall failed to have his car under control as he rammed the rear of a car driven by Larry E. Wright, 25, Radcliff, Ohio, while Wright was stopped for a stop sign at the intersection of Route 22 and Route 56.

Jerry Whitt, 28, Route 5, lost control of his car on slippery Route 188, just south of Dunkle Road, 6:40 p.m. Thursday, driving off the left side of the road, snapping a telephone pole in half and coming to rest against a wire fence owned by Wayne Hines, Route 1, Ashville.

Whitt's car sustained complete rear end damage.

Michael Landrum, 21, Route 1, New Holland, slid off the left side of Route 22, 11:10 p.m. Thursday.

His car sustained minor damage to its left front fender and hood as it came to rest against a fence.

At 4:55 p.m. Thursday, city police investigated an accident where a car driven by Denise C. Woods, 16, 225 Watt St., skidded into a speed limit sign as she was attempting to turn onto Watt St. from the Lancaster Pike.

Federal-Level Black Caucus An Overwhelming Success

WASHINGTON (AP) — The congressional Black Caucus, organized to give the nation's 25 million blacks a voice in Washington, has been almost overwhelmed by success.

Less than a year after it was launched by a dozen House Democrats, the caucus is bursting the seams of its offices, straining its budget and draining the energies of its members and staff.

"Psychologically, this is the most profound political symbol that has ever been offered to black Americans," says Rep. John Conyers Jr., D-Mich., a caucus member.

Blacks have responded to the caucus by deluging it with requests for advice, help and information, contributing money, suggesting projects for it, and duplicating it at the state and local political level.

The caucus is in the process of setting itself up as a non-profit corporation to protect its identity and give it a tax-exempt status and is considering buying a building to house its growing activities.

Caucus activities have included a conference of black elected officials organized in an effort to build black political power; hearings on racism in the Army at a number of military bases; a conference in Nashville on health problems and programs, and a conference this weekend in Baltimore on black business opportunities.

Its members met Wednesday with Jesse Jackson, an associate of the late Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., who is developing a program of black economic liberation, and will meet Sunday with other black political leaders to lay plans for electing uncommitted black delegates to the Democratic National Convention.

Next week, the caucus will petition the Federal Communications Commission for an order requiring the three commercial television networks to give it free time to respond to President Nixon's State of the Union address. If the FCC turns it down, the case will be taken to court.

The caucus is drawing up a "national black agenda" of legislative proposals that the various presidential candidates will be asked to support, and which it hopes to get into the Democratic and Republican platforms.

Snow, Ice . . .

Arctic cold enveloped most of the midcontinent from the inland Pacific Northwest to the Great Lakes and south to the central Plains.

Ice-storm and freezing-rain warnings were out from Arkansas and Missouri through the Ohio Valley to Tennessee and West Virginia. Ice coated roads, trees and power lines throughout the region and east to Virginia.

Snow stretched from Lake Michigan to New York and Pennsylvania.

Travel warnings were posted from southern Connecticut to New Jersey and eastern Pennsylvania because of combinations of snow sleet and freezing rain.

To the south of the ice belt, rain was common from northern Alabama to Virginia.

The frigid weather in the western half of the nation kept the thermometer in Grand Island, Neb., from rising above -1 all day Thursday.

Rain and freezing rain chilled in northern Texas, while showers and snow flurries were scattered across Oregon and northern California.

Temperatures ranged from 35 below zero at Havre, Mont., to 73 at West Palm Beach, Fla.

He denied that he was "in line" to be named attorney general when U.S. Atty. Gen. John N. Mitchell leaves the Justice Department to take over Nixon's campaign.

"Nobody's in line for a job like that," he said. "It's a highly personal matter, the appointment of a cabinet official. I have not discussed it with the attorney general or with the President."

Sadat Easily Surmounts Small Threat To Regime

By ROY ESSOYAN
Associated Press Writer

CAIRO (AP) — President Anwar Sadat has survived the first threat to his regime from the public since he took over from Gamal Abdel Nasser more than a year ago. He did it by using restraint.

It was not much of a threat at the start. The milling, chanting demonstrators this week were mostly students. The rest of the public did not join in. But with a little bloodshed it could have gotten out of hand.

The government's restraint deprived the students of a cause, a battle cry to rally the people behind them. Riot police whacked scores of heads, but they were not issued firearms and used only bamboo sticks and tear gas against the rock-throwing students.

If they had shot a few, as they did during the last demonstrations in Cairo in 1968, they could have precipitated city-wide riots that would have posed a real threat to Sadat's basically moderate regime.

It's hard to whip up a riot, let alone a revolt around such battle cries as "Tell us the truth," "Long live Egypt," "Release our arrested student comrades" and "Give us war or peace, but nothing in between."

The students were protesting the double talk they have been getting from the government—fiery official statements calling for the "final battle with Israel" from a government that knows it is no better organized to battle Israel than the previous ones that fought and lost.

There was no vandalism, no pillaging of shops, not even the posters and banners that normally accompany so-called spontaneous demonstrations in the Arab world.

For two days the disorganized thousands milled through the streets, chanting, waving their fists and scuffling with riot police.

The third day, Wednesday, was the feast of Bairam, the biggest religious holiday of the Moslem year, and the steam went right out of the demonstrators. The riot police disappeared, and the streets filled with holidaying families.

But the trouble is not over. The students are still not satisfied and they may take to the streets again after Bairam ends Saturday.

And Sadat still faces the same dilemma he inherited from Nasser—to go to war or to sue for peace, when he can do neither and survive.

Dr. W. J. Aunan, director of scientific activities of the meat institute, said Thursday that the nitrates are helpful in inhibiting bacterial growth. He added that strict government standards keep the level of nitrates in frankfurters totally safe.

Aunan also questioned the magazine's assertion that its researchers had found excessive bacteria in tested hot-dog samples and its finding that 40 per cent of the samples had begun to spoil.

Consumer Reports further charged that hot dogs were low in nutrition, with a low proportion of protein to filler and fats.

Aunan countered, "It is true that many foods, including some meats have a higher percentage of protein, but that does not mean that hot dogs, with an average of 11 to 12 per cent protein, are not nutritious."

The AMI concluded its defense of the hog dog with the argument that 200 million Americans can't be wrong. Hot dogs, it said, are consumed by Americans at the rate of 69 per person a year.

Policeman Proves Prone To Accidents

MT. CLEMENS, Mich. (AP) — Upset by his department's accident record, Chief Jack W. Mast of the Clinton Township police department wants to enroll his men in driver-training school.

"I don't think we have an unusual problem compared with other police departments," Mast said, "but I'd like to see the accidents down to a more acceptable level."

In three years, Mast said members of the 27-man department have been involved in 61 accidents and wrecked patrol cars 43 times.

His men have been at fault in about 60 per cent of the accidents, the chief added.

Had the officers wrecked their private cars, the chief said, they would have lost their driver's licenses by now.

Policemen found to be at fault in traffic accidents while driving on duty in Michigan are immune from prosecution.

As a result of his department's driving habits, Chief Mast said, annual insurance payments have risen from $200 to $500 for each squad car.

Question Of Treaties

President and the Senate, almost from the beginning of the Republic, have been in frequent disagreement over treaties and binding agreements with other nations.

This is a strange type of controversy, because the Constitution clearly states the President "shall have the power, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the senators present concur."

The device by which numerous provisions have circumvented this provision is the Executive agreement. An Executive agreement, as it has developed, has the identical force of a treaty insofar as United States foreign obligations are concerned. But it is approved by no one except the President, and may not even be revealed until after it has been signed.

Once again the Senate is preparing to confront the White House over this issue. The immediate vehicles for discussion are two Executive agreements reached between President Nixon and Portugal and Bahrain, a newly independent government on the Persian Gulf, which provide for American bases in return for aid.

Neither of these agreements is in dispute as such, as neither would provide any extension of America's current military position. That they exist at all is the point some members of the Senate are questioning.

The issue is an old one, but until it is resolved to the satisfaction of both branches of government it will remain to haunt relations within the government and those with other capitals.

Expensive Fish

Ecuador apparently has no intention of turning over a new leaf with the United States over the sea territorial claims squabble. After capturing 50 U.S. fishing boats during 1971, Ecuador brought in the New Year by taking three more in tow, including the second largest boat in the U.S. tuna fleet.

These actions stem from Ecuador's claim to a 200-mile off-shore territorial limit. The U.S. does not recognize fishing rights beyond 12 miles.

Although all the boats eventually are released — after payment of heavy "fines" — the situation is an untenable one for the fishermen. Their government says they have every right to fish the waters, but every time they do they are captured and held for ransom by the Ecuadorians.

What they would like to see is a little muscle behind Washington's advice.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Only three of every 10 investors should buy and sell shares in American industry directly instead of through an intermediary, such as a mutual fund, says investment adviser Tom Martin.

The first investor is the one who enjoys and is good at picking stocks. The second enjoys following the market as a hobby or avocation. The third "has a damn good source of information."

Martin may be biased because he is executive vice president of Anchor Corp., which serves as investment adviser for mutual funds having assets of close to $2 billion. He also is a man of unusual candor.

In Martin's view, the mutual fund industry is slowly emerging from a period of agonizing reappraisal of its goals and procedures after running off the track during the 1960s.

Those were the dramatic years of "performance." As happens from time to time, people develop the notion that fortunes are made easily in stocks. Many factors contributed, but the mutual funds certainly did their share.

"We lost sight of our goals," said Martin, explaining how some funds permitted the investing public to use them as vehicles for short-term trading instead of long-term investing. "Funds were not meant for short-term gains," he said, "but some funds participated in the game. They did nothing to prevent it."

The news media is guilty also. The performance records of glamor funds were widely acclaimed, and the insinuation was that they could repeat their short-term gains year after year. They couldn't.

In fact, as too often happens, the peak of publicity about some of the glamor funds coincided with their peak accomplishments. Millions of dollars thereafter poured into funds whose only direction was down.

Following the performance disaster came more bad months from 1968 to 1970, when many funds turned in mediocre records mainly because they didn't foresee the extent and duration of economic problems.

The public reacted by slowing their purchase and raising their redemptions. Many mutual funds investors switched to corporate or U.S. Savings Bonds and some simply put their cash back in the bank.

"Now," said Martin, "we must regain the confidence of the public and regain that market—and it is our market."

He sees mutual funds as competing for the savings dollar—the same money that goes into the banks—as much as for investment dollars. And to prove it deserves this money, he claims the funds now place a great deal more emphasis on long-term consistency and stability.

In order to achieve goals, many funds, including those in the Anchor Group, are originating their own research rather than trusting to that of the brokers, which Martin claims is deteriorating in quality.

In his view, now is the time for financially oriented stocks, such as banks and insurance companies.

Curiously, however, there is in his view a "schizophrenic" aspect to the market in that some of the low-priced, less-established stocks may provide good speculation because, Martin says there is an abundance of money available for trading as opposed to investing. When there is an excess money supply—when the supply exceeds that needed for commercial activity—"it inevitably finds its way into speculation in art, real estate, new issues, small capital stocks, stocks with a story."

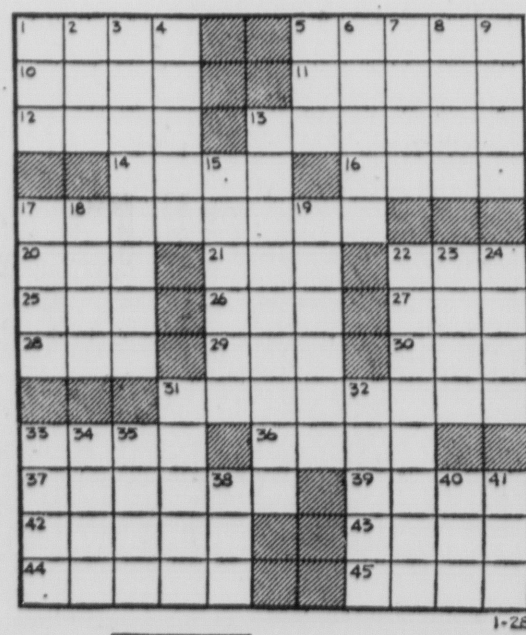

Lots of new issues will be reaching the market this year, and ordinary investors should be guided by the maxim, "If you can get them, don't take them."

Better instead to invest through a mutual fund, he says. The industry has learned its lessons, he adds. It has grown up, and so have many investors. "They don't demand the big gains now that they know the risks."

by LESTER L. COLEMAN, M.D.

I have high blood pressure. Should that dissuade me from getting married? I don't want to impose a burden on my future family.

Mr. K. A., Minn.
Dear Mr. A.:
You show great wisdom and responsibility about the problem that confronts you. This will save you the confusion and guilt that might otherwise be associated with your marriage.

First, you must, by careful examination, find the exact cause of your problem. You will probably find that the condition can be controlled with diet and with one of the excellent drugs available now.

The earlier that hypertension, or high blood pressure, is recognized, the cause found, and intensive treatment started, the greater are the chances of a full, productive and healthy life.

Dr. Milton Mendlowitz, of the Mount Sinai School of Medicine in New York City, is a world-famous authority on high blood pressure.

He emphasizes the need to flush out of hiding the "pre-hypertensive" if we are to reduce the frequency and the severity of the stroke and heart complications of unrecognized and untreated hypertension.

You may actually be fortunate that your condition was found and treated so early. Your own doctor will give you the additional assurance you need.

When are shock treatments given for a highly nervous person? Are there any severe after effects?

Mr. T. Y., Kansas

Dear Mr. Y.:
Shock treatments are convulsions produced by special drugs, overdoses of insulin, and by electric stimulation.

Originally these artificially induced convulsions were restricted to patients with very severe types of psychosis. Now their use has expanded to other forms of psychoneurosis, but they are not used for "nervous" persons who are just very tense.

The decision to use this form of treatment is made after consultation between neurologists and psychiatrists. The cases are very carefully chosen.

The results are often dramatic and help to reduce the severe forms of depression that failed to respond to less heroic measures.

The dangers are slight because the cases are so carefully screened. There may be temporary or prolonged periods where the memory is not as acute as before shock treatments.

Most cities have or should have, a Doctors' Emergency Service if your own doctor is not available in emergency.

Muskie Gets Union Support

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

When it comes to labor support for the Democratic Presidential nomination, AFL-CIO boss George Meany prefers Senator Henry Jackson to any other aspirant. In case Jackson folds in the primaries, Meany's fall-back choice would undoubtedly be Senator Hubert Humphrey, an old friend. This doesn't promise much traditional labor support for the Democratic front-runner, Senator Edmund Muskie of Maine, but the accent must be on the word "traditional."

Muskie has just pulled a coup that can only be assayed for its importance after one has analyzed the current state of the labor movement. Jerry Wurf, president of the 500,000-member American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees, has declared for Muskie, which makes Wurf the first labor leader to come forth with a clear pronouncement. Wurf is not yet a famous personality, but he heads the fastest-growing decline, public service workers have been flocking to Wurf's banner ever since he won a big garbage strike in Memphis at the time of Martin Luther King's death. A big battleground for the public service workers has been Michigan, where civil servants are now bound by 153 contracts of one sort or another. Sixty-nine of these contracts have been for the "agency shop," which binds a public employee to pay a percentage of his salary to the union whether he likes it or not. Ten Michigan communities of 49,000 or more — Ann Arbor, Dearborn Heights, Flint, Grand Rapids, Kalamazoo, Lansing, Pontiac, Roseville, St. Clair Shores, and Westland — have compulsory agreements with public service unions, and Detroit itself may find itself bound to pay agency-shop fees for its public employees if an injunction forced by a Right-to-Work Legal Defense Foundation suit doesn't stand up.

The big point is that Wurf's people have the same sort of militancy that John L. Lewis and Walter Reuther had in the Thirties, and if they decide to put their backs behind Muskie it could vitally affect the campaign. But the favor of public service unions has some aspects that might bummer against Muskie. When municipal bridge tenders, for example, open the drawbridges to Manhattan and hide the keys, thus forcing thousands of exasperated motorists to back up along the thoroughways in an effort to get to the big city, it doesn't exactly make friends and influence people among the general public. Wurf's own particular quality of obstreperousness may bring out votes against as well as for his chosen candidate.

Ed Muskie has a 97 per cent "cumulative" rating from the AFL-CIO's COPE (Committee on Political Education) for his work in the Senate on organized labor's behalf. The amusing thing about this is that Muskie did not always welcome being known as a labor partisan. Back in 1956 I went to Maine, where Muskie was then governor, for the Wall Street Journal to write about Gov. Muskie's victory for re-election over the now-forgotten Bill Trafton. Muskie was then a "Maine-firer," wrapped up in the so-called Sanford Movement to bring new industries into the rundown plants of old textile and shoe towns.

When an effort was made to brand Muskie as a "CIO man" by broadcasting a picture of him in earnest conversation with CIO leader Denis Blais of Lewiston, it sent the governor through the roof. The picture was a cropped version of something taken during a textile strike the year before. If the picture had been printed in toto, it would have shown Muskie standing between the CIO leader and a spokesman for industrial management. The enraged Muskie went on TV to prove to the whole Maine community that, far from being the "CIO's man," he stood exactly in the middle.

So it will be interesting to see how he responds to Wurf's declaration of support. Does Muskie approve of compulsory "agency contracts" for public employees, particularly at a time when labor is under fire for using compulsory union dues for such things as "getting out the vote"? The citizens of Michigan in particular may very well want to know.

Question Of Treaties

President and the Senate, almost from the beginning of the Republic, have been in frequent disagreement over treaties and binding agreements with other nations.

This is a strange type of controversy, because the Constitution clearly states the President "shall have the power, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the senators present concur."

The device by which numerous presidents have circumvented this provision is the Executive agreement. An Executive agreement, as it has developed, has the identical force of a treaty insofar as United States foreign obligations are concerned. But it is approved by no one except the President, and may not even be revealed until after it has been signed.

Once again the Senate is preparing to confront the White House over this issue. The immediate vehicles for discussion are two Executive agreements reached between President Nixon and Portugal and Bahrain, a newly independent government on the Persian Gulf, which provide for American bases in return for aid.

Neither of these agreements is in dispute as such, as neither would provide any extension of America's current military position. That they exist at all is the point some members of the Senate are questioning.

The issue is an old one, but until it is resolved to the satisfaction of both branches of government it will remain to haunt relations within the government and those with other capitals.

Expensive Fish

Ecuador apparently has no intention of turning over a new leaf with the United States over the sea territorial claims squabble. After capturing 50 U.S. fishing boats during 1971, Ecuador brought in the New Year by taking three more in tow, including the second largest boat in the U.S. tuna fleet.

These actions stem from Ecuador's claim to a 200-mile off-shore territorial limit. The U.S. does not recognize fishing rights beyond 12 miles.

Although all the boats eventually are released — after payment of heavy "fines" — the situation is an untenable one for the fishermen. Their government says they have every right to fish the waters, but every time they do they are captured and held for ransom by the Ecuadorians.

What they would like to see is a little muscle behind Washington's advice.

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Only three of every 10 investors should buy and sell shares in American industry directly instead of through an intermediary, such as a mutual fund, says investment adviser Tom Martin.

The first investor is the one who enjoys and is good at picking stocks. The second enjoys following the market as a hobby or avocation. The third "has a damn good source of information."

Martin may be biased because he is executive vice president of Anchor Corp., which serves as investment adviser for mutual funds having assets of close to $2 billion. He also is a man of unusual candor.

In Martin's view, the mutual fund industry is slowly emerging from a period of agonizing reappraisal of its goals and procedures after running off the track during the 1960s.

Those were the dramatic years of "performance." As happens from time to time, people develop the notion that fortunes are made easily in stocks. Many factors contributed, but the mutual funds certainly did their share.

"We lost sight of our goals," said Martin, explaining how some funds permitted the investing public to use them as vehicles for short-term trading instead of long-term investing.

"Funds were not meant for short-term gains," he said, "but some funds participated in the game. They did nothing to prevent it."

The news media is guilty also. The performance records of glamor funds were widely acclaimed, and the insinuation was that they could repeat their short-term gains year after year. They couldn't.

In fact, as too often happens, the peak of publicity about some of the glamor funds coincided with their peak accomplishments. Millions of dollars thereafter poured into funds whose only direction was down.

Following the performance disaster came more bad months from 1968 to 1970, when many funds turned in mediocre records mainly because they didn't foresee the extent and duration of economic problems.

The public reacted by slowing their purchases and raising their redemptions. Many mutual funds investors switched to corporate or U.S. Savings Bonds and some simply put their cash back in the bank.

"Now," said Martin, "we must regain the confidence of the public and regain that market—and it is our market."

He sees mutual funds as competing for the savings dollar—the same money that goes into the banks—as much as for investment dollars. And to prove it deserves this money, he claims the funds now place a great deal more emphasis on long-term consistency and stability.

In order to achieve goals, many funds, including those in the Anchor Group, are originating their own research rather than trusting to that of the brokers, which Martin claims is deteriorating in quality.

In his view, now is the time for financially oriented stocks, such as banks and insurance companies.

Curiously, however, there is in his view a "schizophrenic" aspect to the market in that some of the low-priced, less-established stocks may provide good speculation because, Martin says there is an abundance of money available for trading as opposed to investing.

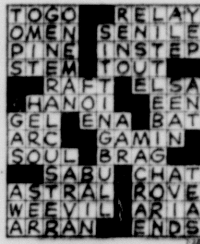

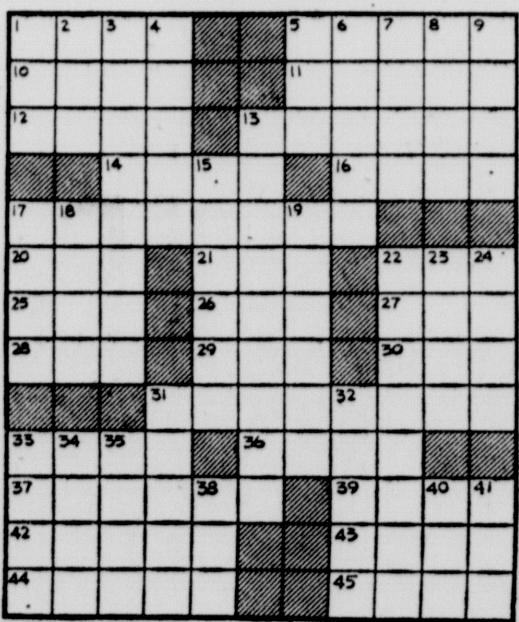

When there is an excess money supply—when the supply exceeds that needed for commercial activity—"it inevitably finds its way into speculation in art, real estate, new issues, small capital stocks, stocks with a story."

Lots of new issues will be reaching the market this year, and ordinary investors should be guided by the maxim, "If you can get them, don't take them."

Better instead to invest through a mutual fund, he says. The industry has learned its lessons, he adds. It has grown up, and so have many investors. "They don't demand the big gains now that they know the risks."

SATURDAY'S HOROSCOPE
GENERAL TENDENCIES: Today's Full Moon brings so much action and things can happen so quickly that it is wise for you to keep on your toes. Be more than usually alert to whatever is happening in your life, or the lives of those about you. Then you will be able to seize new opportunities because of the mental grasp you have of situations now.

ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 19) Being with people you like at the activities that are mutually enjoyable makes this a most happy day and p.m. for you. Use those special talents you possess. Make a fast friend of a casual acquaintance.

TAURUS (Apr. 20 to May 20) You can get everything at home handled quickly and efficiently so all works beautifully there. Then a new upturn can be started where business is concerned. Prove you are a cheerful and happy person.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21) Meet with allies and plan for a more successful and happy future. Good day for buying or selling, correspondence, taking care of transportation matters. Keep active and you feel better.

MOON CHILDREN (June 22 to July 21) You can add to income now if you handle all those monetary affairs in a wise and clever manner. Talk over problems with experts and get their good advice. Follow it carefully.

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21) You can do just about anything you like today, so get busy contacting key persons, friends, for whatever good purpose you have in mind. Use your talents. Don't be a show-off, however.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22) You are able to get that information you need by going to the right source. There is no better day than this to improve that romantic interest. Dress casually but very neatly. Make sure your teeth are sparkling clean.

LIBRA (Sept. 23 to Oct. 22) Plan to see those friends with whom you get along best and have a delightful time at whatever activities are most important to you. Take part in that group affair you like. Show you are full of vim and vigor.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23 to Nov. 21) Contact important persons who can give you the backing you need in the near future. Get involved in some civic affairs that can be most helpful. Improve the prestige you now enjoy and feel more satisfied.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22 to Dec. 21) An ideal Saturday to meet new personalities and look into new outlets that can enlarge your vision and make the future brighter for you. Get into new subjects that are very interesting. Study in p.m.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20) You can concentrate on all that work ahead of you and get it done quickly so you clear the decks for other interests. Your mate is in a fine receptive mood and you can come to an excellent new arrangement. Have a happy evening together.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19) Sitting down with associates and talking over mutual affairs can lead to fine new arrangements, provided you do not lose your temper with any one of them. Ideal day for matters of a public or civic nature. Use wisdom you possess.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20) Although it is Saturday you can come to a fine agreement with fellow workers. Take time for health treatments and get your apparel in order. Handle duties in a way that is pleasing to others.

Dear Abby: By Abigail Van Buren

Should He Have Waited?

DEAR ABBY: Here is the situation. A man in his middle sixties and a woman in her early sixties have recently married. She was the town's most attractive widow for many years. The man's wife had been dead exactly 7 months to the day he remarried.

I always thought that out of respect to the dear, departed mate it was customary to wait a full year before remarrying. I would appreciate your opinion.

KNOWS BEST

DEAR KNOWS: How one treats his mate when he (or she) is living is the only meaningful way in which one can show "respect." And waiting one year (or 10) isn't going to make one bit of difference. Time is precious and if two people feel they can find happiness together, who am I to count the days since their dear ones have departed? (And who are you?)

DEAR ABBY: A relative of mine, now widowed and in her late forties, keeps asking me to get her a date with a certain attractive eligible bachelor she knows I know.

I am absolutely positive that this man would have no interest whatsoever in this woman, but of course I can't tell her that.

Don't suggest I have a party and ask him to "escort" her because if I asked him to pick her up and take her home he would consider it a dirty trick.

I suppose I should tell you that this woman is overbearing, overdressed, loud and aggressive, but thinks she's witty, hip, friendly and the life of the party.

So what can I do when she says, "Just introduce me to him I'll do the rest."

STUMPED

DEAR STUMPED: You need not ask him to "escort" her, but you could invite them both to an informal gathering at your home. She will then meet him, and if he doesn't ask her out, she'll have had her chance. And you'll have her off your back.

DEAR ABBY: I have looked in every etiquette book I could find, and I can't find the answer to this question: When you invite someone to a party, is it proper for them to ask, "Who else will be there?"

I would never think of asking how many and who will be there when someone invites me to a party, but I have had it put to me many times. Is it proper?

WANTS TO KNOW

DEAR WANTS: No. When extending an invitation, the thoughtful hostess mentions what kind of party she's having in order to clue the guests in on what to wear, but if she doesn't say who else will be there, it's impolite to ask. (One just goes and takes his chances.)

CONFIDENTIAL TO "THINKING IT OVER IN PALM SPRINGS": Be sure to think it over thoroughly. Money isn't everything. Sometimes it isn't enough.

Seek Gang Members In Fatal Beating

CINCINNATI (AP) — Police today began a search of the west end for a gang which struck a Cincinnati man on the head with a brick last Saturday.

Armco Notes Big Boost In Earnings

MIDDLETOWN, Ohio (AP) — Armco Steel Corp. announced Thursday that its earnings for the fourth quarter of 1971 totaled $12,490,000 nearly $4 million more than earnings for the same period in 1970.

William Verity, board chairman and chief executive officer of the Middletown-based company, predicted that new economic programs of the Nixon administration would gradually improve the nation's economy in 1972, particularly of the basic steel industry.

The fourth quarter earnings amounted to 36 cents a share on sales of $401,510,000. The figures compared to fourth quarter 1970 earnings of $8,590,000 or 22 cents a share on sales of $383,902,000.

Despite the increases, preliminary unaudited figures show that for the entire year of 1971, earnings were $5,711,000 or a $1.44 a share on sales of $1,695,880,000. For 1970, sales of $1,583,673,000 produced earnings of $56,153,000 or $1.64 a share.

Verity said that although the fourth quarter 1971 earnings were "modestly improved from the third quarter, the results for the second half of 1971 underline the urgency for some better alternative to crisis bargaining."

"The torrent of imports and the wholesale layoffs which accompanied the 1971 steel labor negotiations and settlement would remove any lingering doubts that our bargaining procedures must be modernized to avoid these intolerable consequences to this industry and people."

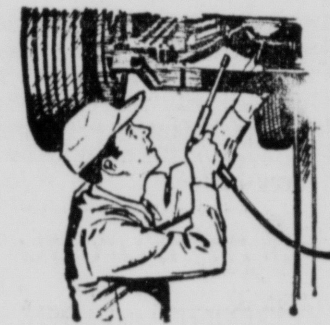

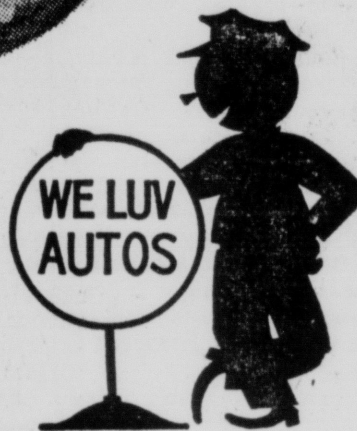

Verity said that the Nixon administration's actions to improve the general economic climate, but the steel import situation "continues to be an area of major concern."

The octopus is a shy creature and would rather run than fight.

Peanut Butter Bread Still Popular Fare

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

A friend of ours who lives in Old Deerfield, Mass., and who in her youth took cooking lessons from Fannie Farmer, told us recently that she has been baking peanut butter bread for more years than she cares to remember!

That got us started. We decided to offer you a recipe for the best peanut bread that could possibly be made. A New York friend of ours, the mother of three children, volunteered to do the testing.

Here then is the result of her effort — and a delicious bread it is. Besides trying it on her own youngsters, our New York friend offered it to seven other kids, two mothers and one father; all gave the bread rave reviews.

Then one of her sons, who was going to a Boy Scout staff meeting, took a loaf along with him. The result of that tasting? Ten boys, from 12 to 16 years old, ate up every crumb.

When we served the bread at our house, we liked it best fresh from the oven with butter and jam.

PEANUT BUTTER BREAD

2 cups unsifted flour, stir to aerate before measuring
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup (1/2 of a one-quarter pound stick) butter or margarine, softened
3/4 cup chunky peanut butter, at room temperature
1/4 cup sugar
1 large egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup milk.

On wax paper thoroughly stir together the flour, baking powder and salt.

In a medium mixing bowl beat together the butter and peanut butter until blended; beat in sugar, then egg and vanilla.

Add the flour mixture, with a pastry blender mix in until fine crumbs form. Add milk and stir just until mixture is moistened.

Turn into a greased loaf pan (9 by 5 by 3 inches). Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in the center comes out clean and top of loaf is golden-brown — 55 to 60 minutes.

Place loaf in pan on a wire rack and let stand 5 minutes. With a small spatula loosen edges; turn out on rack; turn right side up. Cool. Store wrapped in transparent plastic wrap or foil.

Theme of the program will be "Outreach For Youth" with a reformed drug addict who has turned to Christianity as the speaker.

soup. At bottom left a group of Germans are taking a mid-morning break for a second breakfast. It's the German equivalent of the coffee break except that the men here prefer beer to

the action of a story told by Mrs. Walter M. Hall, librarian, in the children's room at Pickaway County Public Library during their Monday visit.

Pre-School Students Visit Public Library

St. Philip's pre-school classes visited the children's section of the Pickaway County Public Library on Monday, and were treated with stories told by Mrs. Walter M. Hall of the library staff. The field trip to the library was one of several such outings arranged for the students to provide exposure to varied experiences for the children's education. In the past, the classes have visited the fire department, the bakery, and a turkey farm. More trips are planned for the future.

The pre-school is a non-profit function of St. Philip Episcopal Church whose aim is to provide training and group activity for pre-school children who will start regular public school next year. The school is open to the public at a nominal charge and classes are held from 9 to 11:15 a.m. and from 12:30 to 2:45 p.m. The morning class is taught by Mrs. Carol Bowling and Mrs. Joy Rae serves as aid. The afternoon class is taught by Mrs. Vicki Moffitt, with Mrs. Marge Sealock serving as aid.

The pre-school has been in existence for the past few years and is licensed by the state. Classrooms are in the basement of the church. Classes are held concurrently with the public school year and will continue through May. Openings in the afternoon class are still available. Information may be obtained by contacting Mrs. Moffitt at 474-7995.

Peanut Butter Bread Still Popular Fare

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

A friend of ours who lives in Old Deerfield, Mass., and who in her youth took cooking lessons from Fannie Farmer, told us recently that she has been baking peanut butter bread for more years than she cares to remember!

That got us started. We decided to offer you a recipe for the best peanut bread that could possibly be made. A New York friend of ours, the mother of three children, volunteered to do the testing.

Here then is the result of her effort — and a delicious bread it is. Besides trying it on her own youngsters, our New York friend offered it to seven other kids, two mothers and one father; all gave the bread rave reviews.

Then one of her sons, who was going to a Boy Scout staff meeting, took a loaf along with him. The result of that tasting? Ten boys, from 12 to 16 years old, ate up every crumb.

When we served the bread at our house, we liked it best fresh from the oven with butter and jam.

PEANUT BUTTER BREAD

2 cups unsifted flour, stir to aerate before measuring
3 teaspoons baking powder
1/2 teaspoon salt
1/4 cup (1/2 of a one-quarter pound stick) butter or margarine, softened
3/4 cup chunky peanut butter, at room temperature
3/4 cup sugar
1 large egg
1 teaspoon vanilla
1 cup milk.

On wax paper thoroughly stir together the flour, baking powder and salt.

In a medium mixing bowl beat together the butter and peanut butter until blended; beat in sugar, then egg and vanilla.

Add the flour mixture, with a pastry blender mix in until fine crumbs form. Add milk and stir just until mixture is moistened.

Turn into a greased loaf pan (9 by 5 by 3 inches). Bake in a preheated 350-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in the center comes out clean and top of loaf is golden-brown — 55 to 60 minutes.

Place loaf in pan on a wire rack and let stand 5 minutes. With a small spatula loosen edges; turn out on rack; turn right side up. Cool. Store wrapped in transparent plastic wrap or foil.

Couple Plans June Wedding

Dr. and Mrs. George W. Knox of Gahanna, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sharren Gay, to Jimmy Ray Rathburn, son of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth B. Rathburn of Ashville.

Miss Knox, a Bexley High School graduate, attended Ohio State University and is employed as a draftsman by Bell Telephone Laboratories.

Her fiancé, an Ashville High School graduate, is a computer programmer with the same firm.

Woman Tells Of Conversion By 'Giving Pitch'

By GEORGE W. CORNELL
AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A tiny, cheery old lady travels the lecture circuit these days telling how faith in God rescued her from a life wrecked by wealth, self-indulgence and booze.

"Churches call it witnessing or giving a testimonial," says

Gert Behanna. "I call it a pitch."

Mrs. Behanna, 77, a pert snappy woman with merriment in her lined face is the subject of a current movie "The Late Liz," starring Anne Baxter, with an underlying religious message.

Based on Mrs. Behanna's autobiography, it portrays her monied, party-going descent through hedonistic flings, three broken marriages and deepening alcoholism to a point of utter desperation and attempted suicide.

There, at the bottom, she cries out, "If there is another way, could I reach for it? Show me the way, God! Oh dear God, is it possible? I do believe!"

From then on, groping at first, uncertain she starts back up the road to authentic life. "That's the way it was" she said in an interview, after watching preview of the movie. "That was me."

In actuality, the turning point came 14 years ago, and ever since Mrs. Behanna, now of San Antonio, Tex., has kept up a heavy schedule of talks, about 300 yearly, before churches, college and other groups, recounting her experience.

"I just tell them what God did for somebody like me," she said. "I don't say what they should do—I just tell what happened to me. All I know is that I was blind and now I can see."

Although she's now an Episcopalian, a member of St. Peter's church of San Antonio Mrs. Behanna said that in temperament she is "about as unchurchy as you can get."

"I'm shocked at the lack of love shown by most people in churches," she added. "Christ said He had come to find those who are lost. But if a drunk comes into a church, who will even move over?"

In her own case, she said, her conversion came like that of Paul in the New Testament. "Christ knocked him down," she remarked. "For most people though, it's not by spontaneous combustion like that, but a slow process."

She also had some help at the start from an Episcopal priest, the Rev. Tom Rogers, now associated with the Episcopal Cathedral in Chicago—played by Jack Albertson—with whom this conversation is depicted in the movie.

"I hope God sticks around through my growing pains," she (Miss Baxter) says.

"You're the one who has to stick around," says the priest, advising her to read the Bible daily and that through it God will speak to her.

"In English?"

"Yes."

Mrs. Behanna, daughter of the late millionaire industrialist Samuel Ingram, turned her fortune over to a charitable trust after her conversion, to devote it to helping others.

"I was spoiled by wealth, by things, by junk," she said. "I had to get rid of it, to make a fresh start."

TARLTON NEWS

Mrs. Joe Jenkins — 474-5542

Economic Indicators Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's leading business indicators increased sharply in December, foreshadowing a strong upward movement in the economy in coming months, the Commerce Department said Thursday.

The department said its index of leading indicators advanced by 2.2 per cent last month. At the same time, it revised upward the November gain, previously reported as 0.2 per cent, to a strong 0.9 per cent.

The leading indicators tend to presage future movements in the economy and are watched closely by administration economists.

Four of the eight indicators available for December increased and four declined, the department said.

"The increases were all substantial while the declines were small," said Harold C. Passer, assistant secretary for economic affairs.

AP Religion Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — A tiny, cheery old lady travels the lecture circuit these days telling how faith in God rescued her from a life wrecked by wealth, self-indulgence and booze. "Churches call it witnessing or giving a testimonial," says

Gert Behanna. "I call it a pitch."

Mrs. Behanna, 77, a pert snappy woman with merriment in her lined face is the subject of a current movie "The Late Liz" starring Anne Baxter, with an underlying religious message.

Based on Mrs. Behanna's autobiography, it portrays her monied, party-going descent through hedonistic flings, three broken marriages and deepening alcoholism to a point of utter desperation and attempted suicide.

There, at the bottom, she cries out, "If there is another way, could I reach for it? Show me the way, God! Oh dear God, is it possible? I do believe!"

From then on, groping at first, uncertain she starts back up the road to authentic life.

"That's the way it was" she said in an interview, after watching preview of the movie. "That was me."

In actuality, the turning point came 14 years ago, and ever since Mrs. Behanna, now of San Antonio, Tex., has kept up a heavy schedule of talks, about 300 yearly, before churches, college and other groups, recounting her experience.

"I just tell them what God did for somebody like me," she said. "I don't say what they should do—I just tell what happened to me. All I know is that I was blind and now I can see."

Although she's now an Episcopalian, a member of St. Peter's church of San Antonio Mrs. Behanna said that in temperament she is "about as un-churchy as you can get."

"I'm shocked at the lack of love shown by most people in churches," she added. "Christ said He had come to find those who are lost. But if a drunk comes into a church, who will even move over?"

In her own case, she said, her conversion came like that of Paul in the New Testament. "Christ knocked him down," she remarked. "For most people though, it's not by spontaneous combustion like that, but a slow process."

She also had some help at the start from an Episcopal priest, the Rev. Tom Rogers, now associated with the Episcopal Cathedral in Chicago—played by Jack Albertson—with whom this conversation is depicted in the movie.

"I hope God sticks around through my growing pains," she (Miss Baxter) says.

"You're the one who has to stick around," says the priest, advising her to read the Bible daily and that through it God will speak to her.

"In English?" "Yes."

Mrs. Behanna, daughter of the late millionaire industrialist Samuel Ingram, turned her fortune over to a charitable trust after her conversion, to devote it to helping others.

"I was spoiled by wealth, by things, by junk," she said. "I had to get rid of it, to make a fresh start."

Economic Indicators Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government's leading business indicators increased sharply in December, foreshadowing a strong upward movement in the economy in coming months, the Commerce Department said Thursday.

The department said its index of leading indicators advanced by 2.2 per cent last month. At the same time, it revised upward the November gain, previously reported as 0.2 per cent, to a strong 0.9 per cent.

The leading indicators tend to presage future movements in the economy and are watched closely by administration economists.

Four of the eight indicators available for December increased and four declined, the department said.

"The increases were all substantial while the declines were small," said Harold C. Passer, assistant secretary for economic affairs.

Matt Winkler Celebrates 8th Birthday

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Matthew Winkler blew out all eight candles on his birthday cake at St. Rita Hospital Thursday where he celebrated the first anniversary of his recovery from rabies.

But he didn't get his wish. He had hope one of his presents would be a machine gun. Employees of the hospital who invited him back to celebrate the birthday and anniversary gave him a camera, a record player and radio.

Winkler made medical history a year ago when he became the first human known to survive rabies infection. He was bitten by a bat while he slept at his farm home in 1970. He received shots to combat rabies but symptoms developed and he was hospitalized November 1970.

Doctors decided in early January he had beaten all odds and survived. He walked out of the hospital Jan. 27 — his seventh birthday. He still receives periodic checkups by his doctor who says the blue-eyed boy is normal in every way.

Attending the party were his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Nicholas Winkler of Willshire, and six-year-old sister, Valerie, along with St. Rita nurses, employees and his doctor, Dr. C. John Stechschulte.

Heiress Discloses Fear Of Ex-Husband

NEW YORK (AP) — Heiress Gamble Benedict Gallagher says her elopement in 1960 with Andre Porumbeanu was anything but the romance depicted in the press at the time.

"I was scared to death of him," Mrs. Gallagher said Wednesday at a Manhattan Supreme Court trial in which Porumbeanu is seeking $50,000 in damages from the American Express Co.

Laurelvie News

By Mrs. Roy Poling

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Noggle returned home Friday, Jan. 21 from a two week wedding trip to Florida.

Mrs. Frank Cox is a patient at Chillicothe Hospital. She is there for treatment. Mrs. Herman DeLong, Martha Strous is also there for treatment.

Mrs. Albert E. Grunden entered Chillicothe Hospital Saturday for treatment.

The Pleasant Valley Home Economic Club met Thursday afternoon Jan. 20 at the home of Mrs. Earl DeLong with Mrs. Merrill Karshner, Mrs. Fred Wiedman and Mrs. Trilba Yaple as assisting hostess. Devotions by Mrs. George Ash reading from the book of Revelation and gave two poems she had written.

A wonderful talk on groceries; buying and bargains by Mrs. Rudolph Ebert and Mrs. Dale Van Curen. Mints were made and shown by Mrs. George Ash and Mrs. Trilba Yaple and Mrs. Charles Pritchard showed a candle that she had made out of a wash cloth and showed us how to make them.

Delicious refreshments were served to 18 members and five visitors: Mrs. Trilba Yaple, Mrs. Roy Fee, Mrs. C. P. Brown from Florida, Mr. Earl DeLong and David DeLong.

Ohio Wesleyan

Gets Big Bequest

DELAWARE Ohio (AP) — Ohio Wesleyan University officials announced the school has been named beneficiary in a will that may mean a $900,000 bequest to the institution.

The bequest, believed the largest in Ohio Wesleyan's history, comes from a 1913 graduate, Helen Whitelaw Jackson of Bismarck, N.D. She died in Bismarck in early December.

Miss Jackson was a Fremont, Ohio, resident when she attended Ohio Wesleyan, but had spent most of her adult life in Bismarck.

Army Asks For OK To Destroy Chemical

RICHMOND, Ky. (AP) — The Army has asked for permission to dispose of a quantity of unserviceable toxic chemical munitions stored at the Lexington Blue Grass Army Depot in Madison County.

"It's really a very small amount" said Joe Penton, Public Information Officer at the Army Material Command in Washington.

The snow is just the way it should be — and the sky's so blue, it's unbelievable. The air is fresh and clean and it's hard to realize that pollution exists. All the world's problems seem far away.

But for this young man there will be a tomorrow — and a next tomorrow. Circumstances won't be the same. Perhaps John is a little more aware than most of us of the ills that beset this world — for he is a theological student. He is determined to make things better. And he is equipped with enthusiasm, understanding, a keen mind and a deep faith.

How about you — and your tomorrows? Certainly the best way to begin doing your part is to cover that short distance to church next Sunday.

Ohio Wesleyan Gets Big Bequest

DELAWARE Ohio (AP) — Ohio Wesleyan University officials announced the school has been named beneficiary in a will that may mean a $900,000 bequest to the institution.

The bequest, believed the largest in Ohio Wesleyan's history, comes from a 1913 graduate, Helen Whitelaw Jackson of Bismarck, N.D. She died in Bismarck in early December.

Miss Jackson was a Fremont, Ohio, resident when she attended Ohio Wesleyan, but had spent most of her adult life in Bismarck.

Army Asks For OK To Destroy Chemical

RICHMOND, Ky. (AP) — The Army has asked for permission to dispose of a quantity of unserviceable toxic chemical munitions stored at the Lexington Blue Grass Army Depot in Madison County.

"It's really a very small amount," said Joe Penton, Public Information Officer at the Army Material Command in Washington.

The snow is just the way it should be — and the sky's so blue, it's unbelievable. The air is fresh and clean and it's hard to realize that pollution exists. All the world's problems seem far away.

But for this young man there will be a tomorrow — and a next tomorrow. Circumstances won't be the same. Perhaps John is a little more aware than most of us of the ills that beset this world — for he is a theological student. He is determined to make things better. And he is equipped with enthusiasm, understanding, a keen mind and a deep faith.

How about you — and your tomorrows? Certainly the best way to begin doing your part is to cover that short distance to church next Sunday.

President Leads Tributes To Late Mahalia Jackson

CHICAGO (AP) — "She was a noble woman, an artist without peer," says President Nixon of Mahalia Jackson whose handclapping Gospel songs endeared her to millions from Carnegie Hall to the capitals of Europe.

The 60-year-old singer died Thursday in a suburban Chicago hospital after suffering a heart seizure. She had been a patient there since Jan. 19.

In a White House statement, the President said:

"America and the world, black people and all people, today mourn the passing of Mahalia Jackson. She was a noble woman, an artist without peer, a magnetic ambassador of good will for the United States in other lands, an exemplary servant of her God.

"Millions of ears will miss the sound of the great rich voice 'making a joyful noise unto the Lord,' as she liked to call her work, yet her life story sings the Gospel message of freedom, and will not cease to do so."

Miss Jackson, who rose from a scrubwoman in the levee section of New Orleans to international fame, had been in ill health the past several years.

She returned home from an European concert tour several months ago on doctors orders.

Miss Jackson received her musical training from listening to records of blues singer Bessie Smith while growing up in a shack along the Mississippi River.

At age 16, she moved to Chicago where she sang in a Baptist choir. She began to sing solo and her career was launched. She made her first recording in 1934 and appeared in Carnegie Hall in 1950.

"I was born to sing Gospel music," she once said. "I want my hands, my feet, my whole body to say all that is in me."

Survivors include several brothers and sisters.

In New Orleans, a family spokesman said the funeral will be held there although a time has not been set. He said New Orleans Mayor Moon Landrieu will be asked to permit the body to lie in state at the Municipal Auditorium.

Cowboy And Indian Films Latest Target Of Movement

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A leader in the American Indian Movement said Thursday that his group's next targets will be the communications and entertainment media for showing cowboy and Indian movies.

Russell Means, executive director of the Cleveland American Indian Center Inc., and a national coordinator for the American Indian Movement, also said in an interview that changes will be sought in textbook material on American Indians.

"The major priority," explained Means, an Oglala Sioux, "is to get rid of the stereotyped image of the American Indian."

He added that a $9 million lawsuit filed recently by the Cleveland American Indian Center against the Cleveland Indians baseball team was a "first skirmish" in the battle. The suit, among other things, seeks to bar the team from displaying its "Chief Wahoo" caricature.

Means said Western movies would be opposed because they do not accurately portray, "either historically, spiritually or philosophically," Indians and whites.

"Most pictures portray us as hooping, brutal savages that attacked without any strategy and plan."

He said the pictures ignored the fact that Indian defense strategy is still studied at West Point, that "the Indians were always pushed to the absolute brink before they would rather die than submit and the fact that we were and are peaceful people."

"Whenever local TV shows a cowboy and Indian movie, we'll want equal time to put across our viewpoint," he said. "This is going to take place in the legal arena. We're also going to seek an injunction against the showings of cowboy and Indian movies."

LBJ Raps Campaign Contributions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson has decried the power of campaign contributions and advocated limiting presidents to one six-year term because the limit would probably be "in the best interests of the nation."

Johnson, after a three-year absence from public office, said Thursday that the influence of campaign contributors on the people they support financially is "one of the most serious problems we have."

"I think every candidate for public office is beholden to groups and people with means," said Johnson, who held the presidency from the assassination of John F. Kennedy in 1963 until 1969.

But he added: "I don't guess it did much in '64 because I was president and it was not an expensive campaign."

Johnson said that, if a president knew that "he had to get everything through in six years" and didn't have to wor-

Firestone To Close Plant At Akron

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The Firestone Tire & Rubber Co. is closing the Akron plant of its Xylos Rubber Co. division.

A spokesman said Wednesday the plant will be closed by June 1. He added that an attempt will be made to reassign most of the approximately 250 workers affected to other Firestone plants in the city.

OHIO CASH GRAIN

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Department of Agriculture cash grain prices:

No. 2 red wheat mostly 1 lower, 1.41-1.50, mostly 1.44-1.47; No. 2 yellow corn mostly 1 higher, 1.00-1.04, mostly 1.03-1.04; No. 2 oats unchanged to 1 lower, 71-75 mostly 72-75; soybeans mostly 1-2 higher 2.96-3.06, mostly 2.99-3.04.

ry about getting re-elected, it would probably "be in the best interests of the nation."

But Johnson wasn't optimistic about chances for such a reform, which would require a constitutional amendment. "I would like to see us try it," he said, "although I don't think we're likely to do it right now."

Largest Eagle In Private Zoo

By WILLIAM C. MANN

MANILA (AP) — The zoo-keeping priest walked to the cage anxiously, expecting to see a precious bird die, but instead he became probably the first human to watch a monkey-eating eagle lay an egg.

Hours later, the Rev. Osmundo G. Aguilar stood grinning, clutching the four-inch by five-inch egg. Behind him was the new mother, a bird with a wingspan twice the priest's height, the first known captive of her endangered species to produce an egg.

"My helper ran in out of the rain shouting, 'Father, father, an eagle is dying!' I thought 'How dreadful!' and made for the cage," said the Filipino Roman Catholic priest. "As soon as I saw the bird's face, I knew she wasn't dying."

After 30 minutes, the egg appeared, and the eagle sat there. Eventually, she hoisted her 39-inch body with wings that spread 11 feet to the tree limb that is her only perch, and Father Aguilar snipped the cage's wire, reached in and retrieved the egg.

The monkey-eating eagle, the largest eagle in the world, flies hundreds of feet above the rain forests of Mt. Apo, 610 miles southeast of Manila on Mindanao island. In the tops of the jungle's towering mahogany trees they construct nests of limbs and sticks, eight feet across. It was believed they mated only in the air.

Apparently the egg laid in Father Aguilar's little zoo, a lacework of yard-wide trails through native and non-native trees, among cages with birds of paradise and Spanish doves and Palawan pheasants, disproved the mating theory.

"I believed, like everybody else, that they mated only in the air," said Father Aguilar. "I saw them trying to mate several times on the ground, but I had no idea they succeeded."

The mother bird lived with Father Aguilar's three other monkey-eating eagles until a typhoon recently destroyed their cage. It was in that cage, that she was mated, he said, because she has lived alone in her eight-foot cube since.

Father Aguilar's zoo, the Philippine Zoological and Botanical Gardens and Aquarium, is private. A visitor pays 20 centavos — about three U.S. cents — admission.

His prizes are the eagles. The Philippine Parks and Wildlife Commission says about 40 pairs of the majestic birds remain wild in Mindanao, the only place they are known since they disappeared from the forests of Luzon, the Philippines' main island. Fewer than a dozen are in zoos around the world, including Father Aguilar's four.

Religious Drama Set At Emmett Chapel

The King's Players of Asbury College, will present the religious drama "Everyman" 7:30 p.m. Saturday at Emmett Chapel United Methodist Church.

Theme of the play is the conflict between good and evil for the possession of man's soul. Twana Moats, a Circleville native, is a sophomore at the college and is a member of the group.

Rubinstein Celebrates 85th Birthday

NEW YORK (AP) — Pianist Artur Rubinstein celebrates his 85th birthday today, still going strong on the concert circuit and cherishing the affection of his audiences.

"Why do I go on?" he said, repeating the question as he straightened in his chair. "It's beyond real understanding, a mission."

"Three days ago in Minneapolis I played two concertos—the Mozart D minor and the Schumann—with the Minnesota Orchestra. I have never felt more ill, and I never played better."

Rubinstein, still suffering from what he called a case of the subflu, was interviewed by the New York Times in his hotel room in Buffalo where he played a recital Wednesday night.

"It sounds corny—that is a terrible word that I picked up in California, where they use it all the time—but I can play only for a public that I love. If they love me, I am terribly happy," he said.

"Sometimes I feel bad to be still playing, taking up concerts that young pianists should have," said Rubinstein, who has been performing in public for 81 years. "I'm ashamed to be a survivor."

But those doubts and the aches disappear at the piano.

"At the piano, my sickness goes away and that makes me terribly happy. While I have been on this tour my wife calls me every day and tells me I must cancel," he said. "But I won't. As long as I can play I won't give in."

2 Policemen Are Slain In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Two policemen on foot patrol in the East Village were shot fatally Thursday night in what police called a "brutal, unprovoked attack" by unknown gunmen.

Witnesses told police that they saw one man run from the scene waving his gun aloft and firing into the air as if in glee. The attackers took the service revolvers from both patrolmen.

Police scoured the area and within an hour of the 10:50 p.m. shooting had seized at least 30 men, some armed, for questioning. None was listed as a suspect, however.

Killed were Patrolman Gregory Foster, 22, who was hit eight times, and his partner, Rocco Laurie, 25, who was hit seven times, police said.

Police said the two patrolmen, both members of a neighborhood police team on foot patrol in the racially mixed precinct had gone into a lunchette to inquire about an illegally parked car.

The lunchette owner told them he did not know whose car it was, police said, and the officers left. Moments later the owner heard rapid gunfire and rushed out to find the officers sprawled on the sidewalk.

The Philippine Parks and Wildlife Commission says about 40 pairs of the majestic birds remain wild in Mindanao, the only place they are known since they disappeared from the forests of Luzon, the Philippines' main island. Fewer than a dozen are in zoos around the world, including Father Aguilar's four.

ROTARY — Skip Boswell, plant manager of Reynolds Aluminum in Ashville, presented slides showing various phases of operation in manufacturing aluminum siding and other materials used in housing construction to members of Circleville Rotary at noon Thursday. Boswell also displayed samples of the new patented no sweat thermophane window. The Ashville plant presently employs 150 men.

Helen Bentley Named As Man Of The Year

NEW YORK (AP) — Helen Bentley, chairman of the Federal Maritime Commission, has received the "Man of the Year" award of the New York Foreign Freight Forwarders and Brokers Association.

Mrs. Bentley, the first woman in the 55-year history of the association to receive the award said Wednesday night that she accepted the honor "with great feminine fervor and female approval."

She returned home from an European concert tour several months ago on doctors orders.

Miss Jackson received her musical training from listening to records of blues singer Bessie Smith while growing up in a shack along the Mississippi River.

At age 16, she moved to Chicago where she sang in a Baptist choir. She began to sing solo and her career was launched. She made her first recording in 1934 and appeared in Carnegie Hall in 1950.

"I was born to sing Gospel music," she once said. "I want my hands, my feet, my whole body to say all that is in me."

Survivors include several brothers and sisters.

In New Orleans, a family spokesman said the funeral will be held there although a time has not been set. He said New Orleans Mayor Moon Landrieu will be asked to permit the body to lie in state at the Municipal Auditorium.

Cowboy And Indian Films Latest Target Of Movement

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — A leader in the American Indian Movement said Thursday that his group's next targets will be the communications and entertainment media for showing cowboy and Indian movies.

Russell Means, executive director of the Cleveland American Indian Center Inc., and a national coordinator for the American Indian Movement, also said in an interview that changes will be sought in textbook material on American Indians.

"The major priority," explained Means, an Oglala Sioux, "is to get rid of the stereotyped image of the American Indian."

He added that a $9 million lawsuit filed recently by the Cleveland American Indian Center against the Cleveland Indians baseball team was a "first skirmish" in the battle. The suit, among other things, seeks to bar the team from displaying its "Chief Wahoo" caricature.

Means said Western movies would be opposed because they do not accurately portray, "either historically, spiritually or philosophically," Indians and whites.

"Most pictures portray us as hooping, brutal savages that attacked without any strategy and plan."

He said the pictures ignored the fact that Indian defense strategy is still studied at West Point, that "the Indians were always pushed to the absolute brink before they would rather die than submit and the fact that we were and are peaceful people."

"Whenever local TV shows a cowboy and Indian movie, we'll want equal time to put across our viewpoint," he said. "This is going to take place in the legal arena. We're also going to seek an injunction against the showings of cowboy and Indian movies."

LBJ Raps Campaign Contributions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson has decried the power of campaign contributions and advocated limiting presidents to one six-year term because the limit would probably be "in the best interests of the nation."

Johnson, after a three-year absence from public office, said Thursday that the influence of campaign contributors on the people they support financially is "one of the most serious problems we have."

"I think every candidate for public office is beholden to groups and people with means," said Johnson, who held the presidency from the assassination of John F. Kennedy in 1963 until 1969.

But he added: "I don't guess it did much in '64 because I was president and it was not an expensive campaign."

Johnson said that, if a president knew that "he had to get everything through in six years" and didn't have to wor-

Firestone To Close Plant At Akron

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — The Firestone Tire — Rubber Co. is closing the Akron plant of its Xylos Rubber Co. division.

A spokesman said Wednesday the plant will be closed by June 1. He added that an attempt will be made to reassign most of the approximately 250 workers affected to other Firestone plants in the city.

OHIO CASH GRAIN

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Department of Agriculture cash grain prices:

No. 2 red wheat mostly 1 lower, 1.41-1.50, mostly 1.44-1.47; No. 2 yellow corn mostly 1 higher, 1.00-1.04, mostly 1.03-1.04; No 2 oats unchanged to 1 lower, 71-75 mostly 72-75; soybeans mostly 1-2 higher 2.96-3.06, mostly 2.99-3.04.

ry about getting re-elected, it would probably "be in the best interests of the nation."

But Johnson wasn't optimistic about chances for such a reform, which would require a constitutional amendment. "I would like to see us try it," he said "although I don't think we're likely to do it right now."

2 Policemen Are Slain In New York

NEW YORK (AP) — Two policemen on foot patrol in the East Village were shot fatally Thursday night in what police called a "brutal, unprovoked attack" by unknown gunmen.

Witnesses told police that they saw one man run from the scene waving his gun aloft and firing into the air as if in glee. The attackers took the service revolvers from both patrolmen. Police scoured the area and within an hour of the 10:50 p.m. shooting had seized at least 30 men, some armed, for questioning. None was listed as a suspect, however.

Killed were Patrolman Gregory Foster, 22, who was hit eight times, and his partner, Rocco Laurie, 25, who was hit seven times, police said.

Police said the two patrolmen, both members of a neighborhood police team on foot patrol in the racially mixed precinct had gone into a luncheonette to inquire about an illegally parked car.

The luncheonette owner told them he did not know whose car it was, police said, and the officers left. Moments later the owner heard rapid gunfire and rushed out to find the officers sprawled on the sidewalk.

NEW YORK (AP) — Former President Lyndon B. Johnson talked with zest about politics, politicking and politicians in the course of an hour's taped conversation on CBS Thursday night.

The talk, leisurely but purposefully nudged by Walter Cronkite, touched wide areas including the high cost of campaigning — "Every candidate for office is beholden to groups," Johnson recalled that the first time he ran he had to borrow $10,000 from his wife.

It was an interesting program partly because it showed a side of Lyndon Johnson that rarely surfaces in his formal speeches.

The program was followed by a filmed documentary of the arrests, jailing and prosecution of two men, one for armed robbery and the other for petty larceny. A CBS camera crew was in Indianapolis in July 1970 working on CBS's "Justice in America" series and was on the scene for each arrest. The two cases were followed to their conclusion — one took a year.

The arrests were for small crimes of a kind that clutter lower courts all over the country. One man was white, the other black. Both were poor, both had been drinking, both had been arrested before. There were witnesses to both crimes and little doubt of the men's guilt.

What was impressive was the remote, polite impersonality with which the two men were treated during the preliminary stages. Neither was able to put up bail, but neither stayed in jail long.

Archie Bennett, the Negro, was arrested for taking $29 from a gas station till, pleaded not guilty and had quick, casual trial after one night in jail. The judge found him guilty, suspended a 90-day jail sentence and ordered him to make restitution and pay a $10 fine plus court costs. He spent five days in jail because he was $10 short on the court costs.

Larry Simmons eventually pleaded guilty to assault and battery, a charge negotiated by his lawyer and the prosecutor, as a reduction from armed robbery. He was sentenced to six months in a penal farm.

Neither man seemed bitter. The program provided the viewer with a look at a side of life to which few are ever exposed. It was reassuring, too, since it appeared that justice was served in both cases.

Johnny Carson and NBC executives are still discussing moving the "Tonight" show from New York to Hollywood as its permanent base. Carson is eager to make the change. But network executives are uncertain how it would affect the popularity of the show while still wanting to keep their star happy. There is general feeling that the show will move — probably in the spring.

Unique Motel High School Being Built At Nelsonville

NELSONVILLE, Ohio (AP) — A unique experiment in vocational training moved closer to reality today with groundbreaking for a million-dollar motel complex.

When completed in 1973, the facility will be used to give vocational students practical training in hotel and restaurant operations.

State School Supt. Martin Essex said the complex providing a "new area of career education for 175 young men and women" will be the "first of its kind in the nation."

The complex will include a 46-room motel, a 225-seat restaurant, four meeting rooms, two swimming pools and a golf course.

It is being built with $737,200 in Appalachian Regional Commission funds, and $52,800 in federal vocational funds plus $207,760 provided locally from the sale of bonds.

Students from school districts in Athens Hocking and Perry counties will have access to the facility, which is being built at the Tri-County Joint Vocational High School here.

In addition, Essex said, adults already employed in the industry will be able to enroll in short-term courses to upgrade their job skills.

Essex said the complex will be used for training in hotel management, food preparation, landscaping and cosmetology and will include a shop to sell products made in other vocational courses.

The Imperial House hotel-motel chain has signed a contract to act as consultant for operation of the complex and training courses in exchange for 5 per cent of the motel's gross receipts.

The motel will be open to the public and is expected to fill a need in this area for meeting space.

T.C. Porter, superintendent of the Tri-County school, said he expects the complex to do most

Book Raids To Continue

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati police vice squad vowed Thursday to continue raids against adult book stores.

Lt. Charles Black, vice squad commander, said "We'll keep after the problem."

He made the remark following raids on seven book stores for the second time in a week. Thursday's raids netted eight arrests of clerks and owners charged with possession of obscene literature for sale.

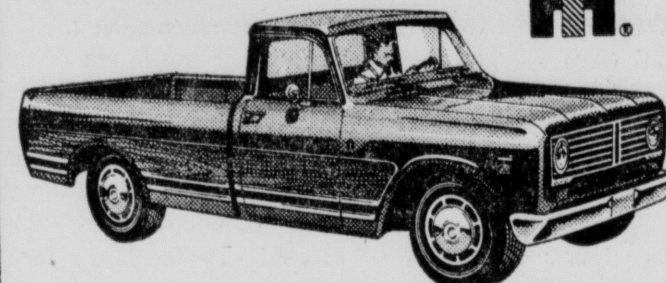

Police raided the same places last week after the Hamilton County grand jury returned 21 indictments against clerks and owners of the establishments.

Attorneys for the bookstores Wednesday filed $4 million suit in U.S. District Court naming Hamilton County Prosecutor Simon Heis Jr. and others. The suit charges they harassed the operators and deprived them of civil rights.

be used for training in hotel management, food preparation, landscaping and cosmetology and will include a shop to sell products made in other vocational courses.

The Imperial House hotel-motel chain has signed a contract to act as consultant for operation of the complex and training courses in exchange for 5 per cent of the motel's gross receipts.

The motel will be open to the public and is expected to fill a need in this area for meeting space.

Elephant Used For Work

By LYNN C. NEWLAND
KANDY, Ceylon (AP) — Nanda Sena is one of a vanishing breed of workers as is his partner, Menike.

Sena, 17, is a mahout, an elephant driver who learned to handle the animal and speak to it in "elephant language from my father and other old men in the village."

Menike, which means gem in Sinhala, is a docile elephant, according to Sena, and easy to work with in the forests and lumber yards near this old imperial capital of Ceylon.

The elephant is the tractor and the crane of the lumber industry in Ceylon. It drags logs from the forest, lifts them onto truck beds and stacks the into piles in the lumber yards.

Sena and an understudy, Aberatna Banda, also 17, work with Menike from 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. daily, when there is work. In the afternoon, they go down to a nearby river where Sena and Banda scrub Menike's hide with coconut husks. Then, Menike lolls in the river, relaxing.

If he works steadily Sena can earn about $160 a month, far above the national average income and quite good for a lad with little schooling "who never has wanted to do anything else but work with elephants."

Sena does not own Menike, which costs about $5,000. The high cost of elephants in a nation where they formerly roamed at wild reflects their dwindling population.

Many ecologists have said the Ceylonese elephant is doomed because of inroads made into its natural habitat by a fast-growing population and much-needed farmland. The estimated 2,500 elephants in Ceylon today are about half the number 20 years ago.

Most experts agree that within several years the area in which elephants and other wildlife will be able to live in their natural state in Ceylon will be reduced to a tenth of the island's 25,000 square miles.

Lid For Freeway

WASHINGTON (AP) — A block-long "lid" will cover a major freeway running through the heart of Seattle, Wash., says the Department of Housing and Urban Development. The "lid" will hide the freeway and muffle noise where the traffic runs below the surface.

The "lid" will be a 3.6 acre park with trees, grass and falling water that will provide a retreat for the pedestrian and a novel driving experience to the freeway traveler.

In addition, the park will extend over a 200-car, privately-owned garage at one end and a 60-car city parking garage at the other.

State Pay Boost Still Not Official

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State employees probably will see at least one more payday go by without getting salary increases granted by the General Assembly.

An official request to allow the 10 to 20 per cent increases was filed with the Federal Pay Board Thursday by Assistant Atty. Gen. Robert Meany.

The request said the raises do not violate President Nixon's Phase II guidelines because they are spread over an 18-month period.

Meany said he expects Pay Board action on the Ohio case either next week or the week following.

State, campus and county welfare employees receive their next paychecks Feb. 4.

While no one in the Gilligan administration has officially ruled out including the raises in the next checks, most officials say the state cannot move on the increases until a decision is made in Washington.

The legality of the increases was upheld Thursday in an opinion issued by Atty. Gen. William Brown. State Personnel Director Paul Corey requested the opinion.

Primary Election Could Be Costly For Ohio

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Unless Secretary of State Ted Brown can get a favorable court ruling, the voting next spring for delegate candidates to national party conventions could cost Ohio counties a lot of money.

Brown said it would be "impractical or impossible" to put the name of delegate candidates pledged to various presidential hopefuls on automatic voting machines.

He has asked Atty. Gen. William Brown to seek court approval for only the name of the presidential candidates to be placed on voting machines. A vote for a candidate would thus be considered a vote for all delegate candidates pledged to him.

Secretary Brown said he needs a reply by Feb. 17 so he can instruct local boards of election on how to set up machines for the May 2 primary election.

James Marsh, elections counsel in the secretary's office, said if such a ruling is not forthcoming it will require printing ballots for the various delegate candidates.

Marsh said machines or automatic tabulating devices could still be used for other names on the various party tickets.

Marsh said he did not know how much extra cost would be involved in printed ballots for each county. There has been speculation it could cost Cuyahoga County as much as $1 million.

So far three Democratic presidential hopefuls have announced they will have delegate slates on the primary ballot.

Republican House members

interested in forcing a statewide vote on the newly-elected state income tax believe it would cost between $100,000 and $200,000 to properly sell their proposal.

Rep. Robert Netzley, R-7 Laura, a leader of the movement, plans to hire a full-time director to organize anti-income tax movements throughout the state.

He said he didn't think the costs were extremely high in view of other statewide constitutional amendment movements. "The Ohio Education Association," he predicted, "will spend $400,000 to beat us."

Two Democrats who supported the income tax, Sen. Harry Meshel, D-33 Youngstown, and Rep. George Tablack, D-82 Campbell have suggested they may start a similar move to repeal the sales tax.

Netzley said voters "will not be fooled by that movement."

"The people" he said, "have more sense than the guys proposing it."

Meshel and Tablack have called the anti-income tax movement irresponsible.

Sen. Bishop Kilpatrick, D-32 Warren, doesn't let letters disturb his thinking on what he believes is right.

"I know most of them anyway and vote the way I want too," Kilpatrick, who has been in the legislature since 1935, explained.

Kilpatrick has voted for every tax bill to come up in the General Assembly since he has been here. When the sales tax increase proposal was in the Senate this year, he was the only Democrat to vote for it.

When that was discarded in favor of the income tax, Kilpatrick voted for that too. "Nobody likes taxes," he remarks, "but they haven't come up with a better way of supporting schools that I know of."

Berrigan Jury Picks Go Slowly

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) — Chief prosecutor William Lynch says jury selection for the conspiracy trial of antiwar priest Philip Berrigan and six others accused of plotting to kidnap presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger is moving slower than he anticipated.

Lynch made the comment Wednesday after eight more persons were picked as potential jurors. Prosecution and defense attorneys plan to select 46 potential jurors, then from that group pick the 12 jurors and six alternates who will hear the case.

Berrigan and the other defendants are accused of conspiring to kidnap Kissinger, bomb heating tunnels under federal buildings in Washington and raid draft offices in at least nine states.

Defense attorneys said they were satisfied with the progress in selecting jurors—17 have been selected during the first four days—because they feel the questioning is uncovering all shades of opinion.

"You never know what a person thinks until you ask," said Leonard Boudin one of the eight-man defense team, of the selection process before U.S. District Court Judge R. Dixon Herman.

Berrigan's codefendants include two priests; a nun; a former priest and his wife, who is a former nun; and a Pakistani student.

Among the potential jurors selected Wednesday were a woman with a draft-age son who admitted she was interested in the peace movement and a man who said his sister is a nun.

Marathon Income Reported Lower

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — "Extraordinary charges," including $15 million after taxes for the write-off of unamortized lease investment on the Alaskan North Slope caused the Marathon Oil Co.'s 1971 net income to drop to $68.2 million, or $2.28 per share.

The company said net income before the charges was $98.7 million.

Net income in 1970 was $86.5 million, or $2.90 per share.

OFU Meeting Lays Groundwork For New Policies

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Groundwork for establishing policies was being laid Thursday by the Ohio Farmers Union at a meeting of its representatives.

Union members are to get a full slate of recommendations for ratification during their annual session.

One topic to be discussed will be the recent action by the Ohio Board of Tax Appeals that all property in the state be assessed at a uniform level of 35 per cent of assessed valuation.

Agricultural land assessments in different counties currently vary by 15 to 25 per cent, substantially lower than the board's new established rate.

Gov. John J. Gilligan has scheduled an address before the group at a noon luncheon.

U.S. Rep. Robert Bergland of Minnesota will speak at a Saturday night banquet.

3 Ohio Congressmen Set Retirement With Pensions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three Ohio congressmen are among a growing number of U.S. House members who are announcing their voluntary retirements this year.

The lure of higher pensions, the political uncertainties caused by redistricting and the cost of campaigning appear to be at the root of many of the retirements.

Reps. William McCulloch of Piqua, Jackson Betts of Findlay and Frank Bow of Canton, all Republicans, have announced they will not run in this year's elections.

As retired congressmen they will be eligible for pensions. Maximum pensions range as high as $34,000 annually, but none of the Ohioans have served long enough to qualify for the full amount.

The pensions are computed on the average of a member's three highest salary years and the length of service. Since March 1, 1969, representatives have drawn salaries of $42,500.

Members pay eight per cent of their salaries into the retirement fund, and the taxpayers match that amount.

To qualify for the maximum $34,000 salary, a representative would have to have 32 years of service, of which five years could be in the military.

All three Ohio representatives retiring this year will probably receive pensions in the $20,000 to $25,000 range, if they have participated in the pension plan as most congressmen do.

Betts and Bow have more than 21 years of service apiece and McCulloch has been a House member for 24 years.

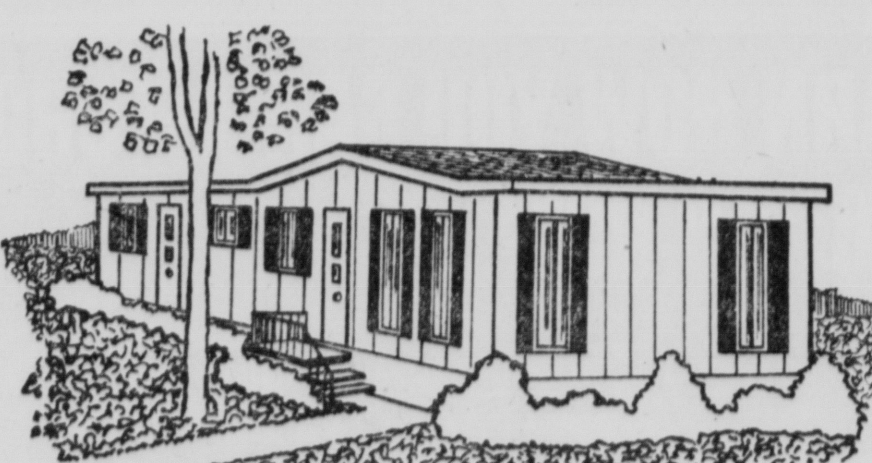

Departures from the House through retirement or defeat have averaged 20 to 30 per Congress in recent years, but voluntary retirements have increased as pension benefits have improved.

If he works steadily Sena can earn about $160 a month, far above the national average income and quite good for a lad with little schooling "who never has wanted to do anything else but work with elephants."

Sena does not own Menike, which costs about $5,000. The high cost of elephants in a nation where they formerly roamed at will reflects their dwindling population.

Many ecologists have said the Ceylonese elephant is doomed because of invasions made into its natural habitat by a fast-growing population and much-needed farmland. The estimated 2,500 elephants in Ceylon today are about half the number 20 years ago.

Most experts agree that within several years the area in which elephants and other wildlife will be able to live in their natural state in Ceylon will be reduced to a tenth of the island's 25,000 square miles.

Lid For Freeway

WASHINGTON (AP) — A block-long "lid" will cover a major freeway running through the heart of Seattle, Wash., says the Department of Housing and Urban Development. The "lid" will hide the freeway and muffle noise where the traffic runs below the surface.

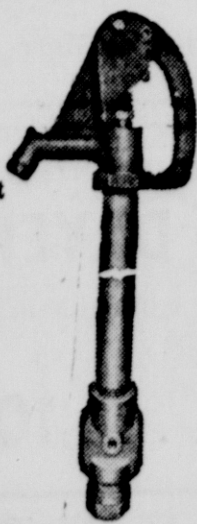

The "lid" will be a 3.6 acre park with trees, grass and falling water that will provide a retreat for the pedestrian and a novel driving experience to the freeway traveler.

In addition, the park will extend over a 200-car, privately-owned garage at one end and a 60-car city parking garage at the other.

State Pay Boost Still Not Official

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — State employees probably will see at least one more payday go by without getting salary increases granted by the General Assembly.

An official request to allow the 10 to 20 per cent increases was filed with the Federal Pay Board Thursday by Assistant Atty. Gen. Robert Meany.

The request said the raises do not violate President Nixon's Phase II guidelines because they are spread over an 18-month period.

Meany said he expects Pay Board action on the Ohio case either next week or the week following.

State, campus and county welfare employees receive their next paychecks Feb. 4.

While no one in the Gilligan administration has officially ruled out including the raises in the next checks, most officials say the state cannot move on the increases until a decision is made in Washington.

The legality of the increases was upheld Thursday in an opinion issued by Atty. Gen. William Brown. State Personnel Director Paul Corey requested the opinion.

Primary Election Could Be Costly For Ohio

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Unless Secretary of State Ted Brown can get a favorable court ruling, the voting next spring for delegate candidates to national party conventions could cost Ohio counties a lot of money.

Brown said it would be "impractical or impossible" to put the name of delegate candidates pledged to various presidential hopefuls on automatic voting machines.

He has asked Atty. Gen. William Brown to seek court approval for only the name of the presidential candidates to be placed on voting machines. A vote for a candidate would thus be considered a vote for all delegate candidates pledged to him.

Secretary Brown said he needs a reply by Feb. 17 so he can instruct local boards of election on how to set up machines for the May 2 primary election.

James Marsh, elections counsel in the secretary's office, said if such a ruling is not forthcoming it will require printing ballots for the various delegate candidates.

Marsh said machines or automatic tabulating devices could still be used for other names on the various party tickets.

Marsh said he did not know how much extra cost would be involved in printed ballots for each county. There has been speculation it could cost Cuyahoga County as much as $1 million.

So far three Democratic presidential hopefuls have announced they will have delegate slates on the primary ballot.

Republican House members

interested in forcing a statewide vote on the newly-elected state income tax believe it would cost between $100,000 and $200,000 to properly sell their proposal.

Rep. Robert Netzley, R-7 Laura, a leader of the movement, plans to hire a full-time director to organize anti-income tax movements throughout the state.

He said he didn't think the costs were extremely high in view of other statewide constitutional amendment movements.

"The Ohio Education Association," he predicted, "will spend $400,000 to beat us."

Two Democrats who supported the income tax, Sen. Harry Meshele, D-33 Youngstown, and Rep. George Tablack, D-82 Campbell have suggested they may start a similar move to repeal the sales tax.

Netzley said voters "will not be fooled by that movement."

"The people," he said, "have more sense than the guys proposing it."

Meshele and Tablack have called the anti-income tax movement irresponsible.

Sen. Bishop Kilpatrick, D-32 Warren, doesn't let letters disturb his thinking on what he believes is right.

"I know most of them anyway and vote the way I want too," Kilpatrick, who has been in the legislature since 1935, explained.

Kilpatrick has voted for every tax bill to come up in the General Assembly since he has been here. When the sales tax increase proposal was in the Senate this year, he was the only Democrat to vote for it.

When that was discarded in favor of the income tax, Kilpatrick voted for that too. "Nobody likes taxes," he remarks, "but they haven't come up with a better way of supporting schools that I know of."

Berrigan Jury Picks Go Slowly

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP) —

Chief prosecutor William Lynch says jury selection for the conspiracy trial of antiwar priest Philip Berrigan and six others accused of plotting to kidnap presidential adviser Henry A. Kissinger is moving slower than he anticipated.

Lynch made the comment Wednesday after eight more persons were picked as potential jurors. Prosecution and defense attorneys plan to select 46 potential jurors, then from that group pick the 12 jurors and six alternates who will hear the case.

Berrigan and the other defendants are accused of conspiring to kidnap Kissinger, bomb heating tunnels under federal buildings in Washington and raid draft offices in at least nine states.

Defense attorneys said they were satisfied with the progress in selecting jurors—17 have been selected during the first four days—because they feel the questioning is uncovering all shades of opinion.

"You never know what a person thinks until you ask," said Leonard Boudin one of the eight-man defense team, of the selection process before U.S. District Court Judge R. Dixon Herman.

Berrigan's codefendants include two priests; a nun; a former priest and his wife, who is a former nun; and a Pakistani student.

Among the potential jurors selected Wednesday were a woman with a draft-age son who admitted she was interested in the peace movement and a man who said his sister is a nun.

Marathon Income Reported Lower

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — "Extraordinary charges," including $15 million after taxes for the write-off of unamortized lease investment on the Alaskan North Slope caused the Marathon Oil Co.'s 1971 net income to drop to $68.2 million, or $2.28 per share.

The company said net income before the charges was $88.7 million.

Net income in 1970 was $86.5 million, or $2.90 per share.

OFU Meeting Lays Groundwork For New Policies

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Groundwork for establishing policies was being laid Thursday by the Ohio Farmers Union at a meeting of its representatives.

Union members are to get a full slate of recommendations for ratification during their annual session.

One topic to be discussed will be the recent action by the Ohio Board of Tax Appeals that all property in the state be assessed at a uniform level of 35 per cent of assessed valuation.

Agricultural land assessments in different counties currently vary by 15 to 25 per cent, substantially lower than the board's new established rate.

Gov. John J. Gilligan has scheduled an address before the group at a noon luncheon. U.S. Rep. Robert Bergland of Minnesota will speak at a Saturday night banquet.

3 Ohio Congressmen Set Retirement With Pensions

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three Ohio congressmen are among a growing number of U.S. House members who are announcing their voluntary retirements this year.

The lure of higher pensions, the political uncertainties caused by redistricting and the cost of campaigning appear to be at the root of many of the retirements.

Reps. William McCulloch of Piqua, Jackson Betts of Findlay and Frank Bow of Canton, all Republicans, have announced they will not run in this year's elections.

As retired congressmen they will be eligible for pensions. Maximum pensions range as high as $34,000 annually, but none of the Ohioans have served long enough to qualify for the full amount.

The pensions are computed on the average of a member's three highest salary years and the length of service. Since March 1, 1969, representatives have drawn salaries of $42,500.

Members pay eight per cent of their salaries into the retirement fund, and the taxpayers match that amount.

To qualify for the maximum $34,000 salary, a representative would have to have 32 years of service, of which five years could be in the military.

All three Ohio representatives retiring this year will probably receive pensions in the $20,000 to $25,000 range, if they have participated in the pension plan as most congressmen do.

Betts and Bow have more than 21 years of service apiece and McCulloch has been a House member for 24 years.

Departures from the House through retirement or defeat have averaged 20 to 30 per cent in recent years, but voluntary retirements have increased as pension benefits have improved.

The Red and Black Grappler Is Pick Of Week

Turn Spotlight On Tiger Cagers

By JEFF HARR

Mike Chelikowsky has been selected as the wrestler of the week.

MIKE CHELIKOWSKY

Mike, better known as Chico, also participated in track and football. He had an outstanding year at halfback for Circleville and received honorable mention on the all-league team. This is Chico's first year of wrestling and his biggest problem is lack of experience although he is learning fast and doing well.

Chico is enrolled in the classical course and takes some very tough subjects. He is a very hard worker because he does not feel that his senior year is a time to loaf. After graduation, he plans to attend Bowling Green State University. Mike also is a member of the Catholic Youth Organization, Fellowship of Christian Athletes, and the Hi-Y. In his free time Mike enjoys playing the guitar, playing cards, and sleeping.

Mr. Stewart Wins Table Tennis Title

By LISA WILLIAMS

The scene of last week's pep rally was not that of the usual "Rah-rah, Sis, Boom Bah." Approximately midway through November, Key Club posted sign-up sheets for a ping-pong tournament to be held each lunch period. Matches were held and eliminations began.

At the pep rally, the winner from early lunch period, Mr. Boyer, and the late lunch period, Mr. Stewart, met for the final match.

It was to be a three game match, and the one who won two of the three would be declared champion by referee, Dave Grigg. The flip of the coin decided that Mr. Boyer would get the serve. After that, though, everything went to Mr. Stewart and he came out a winner of the first match, beating Mr. Boyer, 21-15.

The second match was a close one most of the way through, but Mr. Stewart managed to pull ahead and he was named grand champion.

Immediately following the game, the awards were given out. Mr. Boyer received the early and late lunch losers cards, and Mr. Stewart received the cards with the winning names on them and a trophy presented by the Key Club.

Circleville Is On Road Again

By KENT WOLFE

Circleville will be on the road once again this weekend as they travel to meet the Hillsboro Indians in an SCOL tilt and the Teays Valley Vikings in a county rivalry.

Although Hillsboro was beaten by the Tigers earlier in the season, they have a good team and can never be classified as easy to beat. CHS needs this win to stay alive in the race for the league title, and will be ready to bring home the victory.

The Vikings have a quick team, but they have had their ups and downs. The Tigers beat them earlier in the season and will be ready to take them again Saturday night.

Elsewhere in the county, Westfall will lose to Laurelsville, Paint Valley will be more than Logan Elm can handle, and Teays Valley will win what should be a good ball game over Franklin Heights.

RANDY SPROUT

By DON VALENTINE

Two senior Tiger cagers are featured this week by the Red and Black staff. They are Randy Sprout, a five foot eleven inch forward, and Dave Grigg, a six foot five inch center.

Randy, who lives with his parents Mr. and Mrs. William Sprout at 319 Meadow Lane, is one of the best shooters on the team. He is always working hard in practice and serves as the opponents best shooting

Six Perform Advanced Research

By LINDA CORDLE

Take six students with active imaginations under the direction of Mr. William Brooke and what do you get? The Advanced Science Class.

The students are: Skip McCabe, Steve DeMint, Steve Crist, Barry Garner, Tammy Miller and Karen Foster. They work independently in class on various research problems during the school year.

Tammy and Karen have chosen for their project the identification of plants from 15 areas, each one square foot. They get plants from the square, which they call the central point, and then get plants from the surrounding area. The plants are then pressed and readied for identification.

Skip McCabe is studying the effects of noise pollution on turtles.

Trying to find an effective oil pollution control agent is Barry Garner. He puts water and oil in a test tube and puts various substances on it, trying to find one that will work.

Steve Crist is doing a study of extra lifting designs for stall flight, incorporating jet air for deflection and lift.

And Steve DeMint is working with vocal chords and is trying to make a machine that talks. Every week the class works on abstracts. The articles are taken from different magazines. This class has been in existence for two years.

Students will be participating in the district science fair on March 11. The regional science fair will be held sometime in April.

After graduation, Randy plans to attend Miami University and study pre-law.

Dave resides with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Grigg, at 905 Atwater Ave. Besides being the tallest member on the team, Dave is also the hardest worker on the team. He has improved his shooting and rebounding and has helped the team in many ways.

Along with basketball, Dave also finds time for golf and is active in the Key Club.

Following high school, Dave plans to attend either Virginia Tech. or Miami University.

Fifth Grade Teacher New

MISS LINDA YUNKER
Nicholas — 5th Grade

By DONNA A. IMLER

Who is the new face around Nicholas Drive Elementary School?

She is Miss Linda Yunker and she teaches the fifth grade class. New to Circleville, Miss Yunker resides at 1008½ N. Court St.

A native of Elba, New York, Miss Yunker came to Ohio to receive her education at Heidelberg in Tiffin, Ohio. She is presently working on her masters degree. She chose to teach because she was interested in the profession, and she finds that in Circleville, "the people are nice and people make the school."

Teaching comes first, but in her spare moments she enjoys art and many spectator sports.

Fast-Service Chef Is CHS Student

By KENT WOLFE

This week the Red and Black Staff is honoring George Baughman as DECA student of the week.

George, who lives at 376 E. Watt St. with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Adkins, works for Mr. Dave Grooms at the Borden Burger as a cook, and puts in about thirty hours a week.

He received his job by filling out an application and going for an interview. He was then called to go in for a second interview and was put to work immediately.

GEORGE BAUGHMAN

When asked how he thought his present job has helped to prepare him for a future vocation, George replied, "It introduced me to selling and made it possible for me to get along better with others."

Although he does not have much contact with the public at the present, he hopes to later move up to the cash registers and take orders.

"It has introduced me to the world of selling and distribution," answered George when asked how DECA has helped to prepare him for future vocation.

Among his likes are good food, nice girls, Borden Burger and Plymouths. His dislikes include snobbish girls and mouthy guys. He also feels that everyone should support anything the country tries and not riot because it is disliked.

After graduation George would like to go into food distribution management.

Karen Foster Is Selected Homemaker

Karen S. Foster has been named Circleville's Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow for 1972.

She was chosen on the basis of her score in a written knowledge and attitude examination taken by senior girls on Dec. 7, and will receive a specially designed award charm from General Mills, sponsor of the annual educational program. Additionally, she is now eligible for state and national honors.

Psych Class Tours Orient

By LYN JACOBS

Last week members of Mrs. Boggs' psychology classes took a field trip to Orient State Institute. Accompanied by Mr. Fisher, Mrs. Boggs, and Mr. Dean these 80 students were given a tour of the institute which accommodates 3,000 people.

The group first visited the center of the retarded blind and viewed what the patients are able to learn and make. This division is a vocational center in which residents use their hands to make such things as brooms, brushes, and rugs.

Next the students toured one of the cottages, a dormitory type of structure where the patients eat, sleep and go about their daily activities. Approximately 275 people are housed in one of these cottages, where they are also given occupational therapy.

The CHS students also visited Orient's audio-visual area where the people there have their own TV station and tape their own shows.

Finally, the psychology students were shown the gymnasium, in which basketball games, queen contests, and other games are held. The tour was concluded with a showing of slides about the activities of the institute throughout the year.

The Funniest Thing Happened

By CAROL HODGES

It does not pay to be sick. On Monday of last week, I woke up with a sore throat, a headache, and stuffy sinuses — in other words, the 24-hour flu.

Tuesday I felt passable, so I returned to school with an excuse written by my mother. At the office window, I was instructed to proceed to the east door of the Teachers' Conference Room (where teachers do not have any conferences). There, I was given a pink slip to be admitted to homeroom.

This may sound simple, but there were 9,222 other kids there for the same reason. Due to the line, I was late to homeroom, but my pink slip let me in. Then I was told I had forgotten to pick up a white card and I would receive zeros in every subject unless I returned the card, signed by my parents, to the office.

Wednesday, I returned the white card to the east door of the Teachers' Conference Room and I thought that was the end of the matter. Not so! I was given a numbered white piece of paper called the White Slip. This, I was told, informed each teacher that I had been absent, had now returned my white card, and was legally present. Every teacher was to sign this and it was to be returned to the office at the end of the day.

All day I tracked down people to initial the slip. When that was done, I took it back, feeling some sense of accomplishment. But you know what? They told me to keep it. I still don't know quite why I did it in the first place. It just doesn't pay to be absent.

Bare Welfare Fraud Case

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — An Indianapolis mother moved to Ohio last fall and began receiving welfare assistance for her three children while continuing to receive public aid here, it was learned.

The dual assistance continued for three months. The mother returned to Indianapolis with her children regularly for interviews and "home visits" by case workers for the Marion County Department of Public Welfare (Indianapolis).

Wayne A. Stanton, director of the Marion County agency, said the two-state assistance might have continued for a long time, but the mother "bragged" to relatives and friends in Ohio about her scheme.

Stanton said he was alerted by Ohio authorities who furnished him with copies of the woman's records and payments made to her.

(The information has been compiled in both states and given to prosecuting attorneys, Stanton told the Associated Press. "Whichever state has the best case will take it to a grand jury for prosecution.")

Stanton refused to identify the mother, or to disclose where she lived in Ohio, except to say "a town near the Indiana state line."

2 Americans Killed In Action

SAIGON (AP) — Two Americans were reported killed in action last week in Vietnam and 30 were wounded, the U.S. Command said in its weekly casualty summary.

The death toll was three less than the previous week, and the number of wounded was four more. American combat casualties have been averaging about five killed and 38 wounded per week for the past three months.

The South Vietnamese command reported 326 of its troops killed and 824 wounded last week. The number of wounded was the highest in 14 weeks, while the number killed was 64 less than the previous week.

Tangents

By Pickaway County Library Staff

Are you over 25? Then you're part of the older generation. As such, you are entitled to read and enjoy the following books for adults!

High-key adventure catches the reader in the first few pages of "The Heights of Zervos" by Colin Forbes. Turkey is the setting for this top-notch yarn of breath-taking intrigue. Makes the one in the "Caine Mutiny" seem like a summer afternoon's squall. There are flesh and blood characters who leap to life as the story unfolds. Men will like this book, especially those who remember World War II.

In his own words, Vladimir Nabokov describes the hero of "Glory." "Martin is the kindest, the uprightest and most touching of all my young men, fulfillment is the frugal theme of his destiny. He is that rarity — a person whose dreams come true." "Glory" is the last of the author's nine Russian novels to be made available to English-reading people. It was written in 1932. Like all Nabokov's books, it must be read slowly and carefully to be understood. "Nothing much happens at the end — just a bird perching on a wicket in the grayness of a wet day."

Want to reminisce? You can't do better than to read "We Gave You the Electric Toothbrush." You can identify with the author if you remember the first appearance of the Man from Glad. But those who can recall the laundry frozen to the lilac bush will really catch on to all his gentle irony. Fathers who paid board and room to their parents don't seem to be able to collect from their lives. Logically, the explanation they get is "You support me and I'll support my children." This wry book by Robert Thomas Allen is written for the generation caught in the middle. You know them. They sit around in the shadows keeping regular.

There are several ways in which one can read "Lives to Give" by Sanche de Gramont. It is a gripping story of World War II espionage. It is a biting condemnation of Nazi cruelty. And it is a study of four men and their separate reasons for their underground activities. Sanche de Gramont, the author, leaves the reader with a big question. Is there any justification for the sacrifice of human life? Recommended.

"You and Your Aging Parents" is a humane, sensible, and comprehensive discussion. It covers the adjustment to retirement, of two or three generations living under the same roof and the physical and emotional changes that take place during the aging processes. This is a revised and updated edition of an earlier book by Edith M. Stern, with Mabel Ross, M.D.

The Red and Black Grappler Is Turn Spotlight On Tiger Cagers

By JEFF HARR

Mike Chelikowsky has been selected as the wrestler of the week.

MIKE CHELIKOWSKY

Mike, better known as Chico, also participated in track and football. He had an outstanding year at halfback for Circleville and received honorable mention on the all-league team. This is Chico's first year of wrestling and his biggest problem is lack of experience although he is learning fast and doing well. Chico is enrolled in the classical course and takes some very tough subjects. He is a very hard worker because he does not feel that his senior year is a time to loaf. After graduation, he plans to attend Bowling Green State University. Mike also is a member of the Catholic Youth Organization, Fellowship of Christian Athletes, and the Hi-Y. In his free time Mike enjoys playing the guitar, playing cards, and sleeping.

Mr. Stewart Wins Table Tennis Title

By LISA WILLIAMS

The scene of last week's pep rally was not that of the usual "Rah-rah, Sis, Boom Bah." Approximately midway through November, Key Club posted sign-up sheets for a ping-pong tournament to be held each lunch period. Matches were held and eliminations began.

At the pep rally, the winner from early lunch period, Mr. Boyer, and the late lunch period, Mr. Stewart, met for the final match.

It was to be a three game match, and the one who won two of the three would be declared champion by referee, Dave Grigg. The flip of the coin decided that Mr. Boyer would get the serve. After that, though, everything went to Mr. Stewart and he came out a winner of the first match, beating Mr. Boyer, 21-15.

The second match was a close one most of the way through, but Mr. Stewart managed to pull ahead and he was named grand champion.

Circleville Is On Road Again

By KENT WOLFE

Circleville will be on the road once again this weekend as they travel to meet the Hillsboro Indians in an SCOL tilt and the Teays Valley Vikings in a county rivalry.

Although Hillsboro was beaten by the Tigers earlier in the season, they have a good team and can never be classified as easy to beat. CHS needs this win to stay alive in the race for the league title, and will be ready to bring home the victory.

The Vikings have a quick team, but they have had their ups and downs. The Tigers beat them earlier in the season and will be ready to take them again Saturday night.

Elsewhere in the county, Westfall will lose to Laurelville, Paint Valley will be more than Logan Elm can handle, and Teays Valley will win what should be a good ball game over Franklin Heights.

Turn Spotlight On Tiger Cagers

RANDY SPROUT

By DON VALENTINE

Two senior Tiger cagers are featured this week by the Red and Black staff. They are Randy Sprout, a five foot eleven inch forward, and Dave Grigg, a six foot five inch center.

Randy, who lives with his parents Mr. and Mrs. William Sprout at 319 Meadow Lane, is one of the best shooters on the team. He is always working hard in practice and serves as the opponents best shooting forward on the scouting team. Besides basketball, Randy is a member of the Key Club and plays shortstop on the baseball team.

After graduation, Randy plans to attend Miami University and study pre-law.

Dave resides with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Grigg, at 905 Atwater Ave. Besides being the tallest member on the team, Dave is also the hardest worker on the team. He has improved his shooting and rebounding and has helped the team in many ways.

Along with basketball, Dave also finds time for golf and is active in the Key Club.

Fast-Service Chef Is CHS Student

By KENT WOLFE

This week the Red and Black Staff is honoring George Baughman as DECA student of the week.

George, who lives at 376 E. Watt St. with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Adkins, works for Mr. Dave Grooms at the Borden Burger as a cook, and puts in about thirty hours a week.

He received his job by filling out an application and going for an interview. He was then called to go in for a second interview and was put to work immediately.

GEORGE BAUGHMAN

When asked how he thought his present job has helped to prepare him for a future vocation, George replied, "It introduced me to selling and made it possible for me to get along better with others."

Although he does not have much contact with the public at the present, he hopes to later move up to the cash registers and take orders.

"It has introduced me to the world of selling and distribution," answered George when asked how DECA has helped to prepare him for future vocation.

Among his likes are good food, nice girls, Borden Burger and Plymouths. His dislikes include snobbish girls and mouthy guys. He also feels that everyone should support anything the country tries and not riot because it is disliked.

After graduation George would like to go into food distribution management.

Karen Foster Is Selected Homemaker

Karen S. Foster has been named Circleville's Betty Crocker Homemaker of Tomorrow for 1972.

She was chosen on the basis of her score in a written knowledge and attitude examination taken by senior girls on Dec. 7, and will receive a specially designed award charm from General Mills, sponsor of the annual educational program. Additionally, she is now eligible for state and national honors.

Fifth Grade Teacher New

MISS LINDA YUNKER
Nicholas — 5th Grade

By DONNA A. IMLER

Who is the new face around Nicholas Drive Elementary School?

She is Miss Linda Yunker and she teaches the fifth grade class. New to Circleville, Miss Yunker resides at 1008 1/2 N. Court St.

A native of Elba, New York, Miss Yunker came to Ohio to receive her education at Heidelberg in Tiffin, Ohio. She is presently working on her masters degree. She chose to teach because she was interested in the profession, and she finds that in Circleville, "the people are nice and people make the school."

Teaching comes first, but in her spare moments she enjoys art and many spectator sports.

Psych Class Tours Orient

By LYN JACOBS

Last week members of Mrs. Boggs' psychology classes took a field trip to Orient State Institute. Accompanied by Mr. Fisher, Mrs. Boggs, and Mr. Dean these 80 students were given a tour of the institute which accommodates 3,000 people.

The group first visited the center of the retarded blind and viewed what the patients are able to learn and make. This division is a vocational center in which residents use their hands to make such things as brooms, brushes, and rugs.

Next the students toured one of the cottages, a dormitory type of structure where the patients eat, sleep and go about their daily activities. Approximately 275 people are housed in one of these cottages, where they are also given occupational therapy.

The CHS students also visited Orient's audio-visual area where the people there have their own TV station and tape their own shows.

Finally, the psychology students were shown the gymnasium, in which basketball games, queen contests, and other games are held. The tour was concluded with a showing of slides about the activities of the institute throughout the year.

The Funniest Thing Happened

By CAROL HODGES

It does not pay to be sick. On Monday of last week, I woke up with a sore throat, a headache, and stuffy sinuses — in other words, the 24-hour flu.

Tuesday I felt passable, so I returned to school with an excuse written by my mother. At the office window, I was instructed to proceed to the east door of the Teachers' Conference Room (where teachers do not have any conferences). There, I was given a pink slip to be admitted to homeroom.

This may sound simple, but there were 9,222 other kids there for the same reason. Due to the line, I was late to homeroom, but my pink slip let me in. Then I was told I had forgotten to pick up a white card and I would receive zeros in every subject unless I returned the card, signed by my parents, to the office.

Wednesday, I returned the white card to the east door of the Teachers' Conference Room and I thought that was the end of the matter. Not so! I was given a numbered white piece of paper called the White Slip. This, I was told, informed each teacher that I had been absent, had now returned my white card, and was legally present. Every teacher was to sign this and it was to be returned to the office at the end of the day.

All day I tracked down people to initial the slip. When that was done, I took it back, feeling some sense of accomplishment. But you know what? They told me to keep it. I still don't know quite why I did it in the first place. It just doesn't pay to be absent.

Bare Welfare Fraud Case

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — An Indianapolis mother moved to Ohio last fall and began receiving welfare assistance for her three children while continuing to receive public aid here, it was learned.

The dual assistance continued for three months. The mother returned to Indianapolis with her children regularly for interviews and "home visits" by case workers for the Marion County Department of Public Welfare (Indianapolis).

Wayne A. Stanton, director of the Marion County agency, said the two-state assistance might have continued for a long time, but the mother "bragged" to relatives and friends in Ohio about her scheme.

Stanton said he was alerted by Ohio authorities who furnished him with copies of the woman's records and payments made to her.

(The information has been compiled in both states and given to prosecuting attorneys, Stanton told the Associated Press. "Whichever state has the best case will take it to a grand jury for prosecution.")

Stanton refused to identify the mother, or to disclose where she lived in Ohio, except to say "a town near the Indiana state line."

2 Americans Killed In Action

SAIGON (AP) — Two Americans were reported killed in action last week in Vietnam and 30 were wounded, the U.S. Command said in its weekly casualty summary.

The death toll was three less than the previous week, and the number of wounded was four more. American combat casualties have been averaging about five killed and 38 wounded per week for the past three months.

The South Vietnamese command reported 326 of its troops killed and 824 wounded last week. The number of wounded was the highest in 14 weeks, while the number killed was 64 less than the previous week.

Tangents

By Pickaway County Library Staff

Are you over 25? Then you're part of the older generation. As such, you are entitled to read and enjoy the following books for adults!

High-key adventure catches the reader in the first few pages of "The Heights of Zervos" by Colin Forbes. Turkey is the setting for this top-notch yarn of breath-taking intrigue. There is a sea storm which makes the one in the "Caine Mutiny" seem like a summer afternoon's squall. There are flesh and blood characters who leap to life as the story unfolds. Men will like this book, especially those who remember World War II.

In his own words, Vladimir Nabokov describes the hero of "Glory." "Martin is the kindest, the uprightest and most touching of all my young men. fulfillment is the frugal theme of his destiny. He is that rarity — a person whose dreams come true." "Glory" is the last of the author's nine Russian novels to be made available to English-reading people. It was written in 1932. Like all Nabokov's books, it must be read slowly and carefully to be understood. "Nothing much happens at the end — just a bird perching on a wicket in the grayness of a wet day."

Want to reminisce? You can't do better than to read "We Gave You the Electric Toothbrush." You can identify with the author if you remember the first appearance of the Man from Glad. But those who can recall the laundry frozen to the lilac bush will really catch on to all his gentle irony. Fathers who paid board and room to their parents don't seem to be able to collect from their lives. Logically, the explanation they get is "You support me and I'll support my children." This wry book by Robert Thomas Allen is written for the generation caught in the middle. You know them. They sit around in the shadows keeping regular.

There are several ways in which one can read "Lives to Give" by Sanche de Gramont. It is a gripping story of World War II espionage. It is a biting condemnation of Nazi cruelty. And it is a study of four men and their separate reasons for their underground activities. Sanche de Gramont, the author, leaves the reader with a big question. Is there any justification for the sacrifice of human life? Recommended.

"You and Your Aging Parents" is a humane, sensible, and comprehensive discussion. It covers the adjustment to retirement, of two or three generations living under the same roof and the physical and emotional changes that take place during the aging process. This is a revised and updated edition of an earlier book by Edith M. Stern, with Mabel Ross, M.D.

Abe Gibron
Named Chicago
Bears Coach

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — The size of the Chicago Bears' image is bound to change. They have not had a 300-pound head football coach before now.

Abe Gibron, a beloved beehemoth, was elevated Thursday by owner George Halas from the assistant status he has held since 1965 into the head coaching job.

Gibron, a good mixer on and off the field with man and martini, replaces Jim Dooley, another Bear-organization man who was fired after the 1971 team plunged to a closing string of five defeats in a 6-8 National Football League season.

Dooley had another year to go on a five-year contract. Gibron signed a multiyear pact of unannounced duration and salary.

When Halas gave all of Dooley's assistants walking papers with the exception of Abe Gibron still didn't know he was the guy.

Halas said he plumbed about 30 applicants—including a Chicago area priest who was told by Papa Bear that he couldn't serve two masters—before firmly deciding that the Bears would not break a 53-year-old record and hire an "outsider."

"The first time I thought I knew I had the job," said Gibron, "was Wednesday night. I was told there would be a news conference the next day and to wear a tie and a suit. I had been sweating it out; I was down to under 300 pounds."

Gibron, 46, was a former offensive captain of the Bears, a seven-year veteran with the Cleveland Browns and Philadelphia Eagles and line coach for the Washington Redskins from 1959 to 1965.

Local Frosh Rally To Nip
Mt. Logan

A third quarter rally by Circleville's freshmen cagers earned them a 38-36 decision over Chillicothe Mt. Logan in a real thriller Thursday on the Tiger's floor.

Chillicothe jumped out to a 7-0 lead and maintained a 9-5 edge at the conclusion of the first quarter. They still held an 18-13 advantage at halftime.

Circleville began to cut into the lead in the third canto and grabbed a 25-23 lead at the third period buzzer.

The final period was a nip and tuck affair with Circleville gaining the final edge.

Phil Roll paced Circleville with 15 points, Pat McNaughton had eight, Tim McNaughton six, Perry Hoskins four, Dave Bevan and Bill Massie added two apiece and Doug Palm chipped in with one.

K. Hitchens tallied 13 points to lead Mt. Logan.

Hoskins, who was double teamed throughout the contest, turned in an excellent floor game and defensive effort.

Circleville is now 8-3 and will host the undefeated freshmen of Teays Valley 4:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Minnesota Players
Suspended By Coach

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—University of Minnesota coach Bill Musselman said Thursday night he has suspended Ron Behagen and Corky Taylor from the squad.

The announcement said the final decision on the suspension by Big Ten Commissioner Wayne Duke and University of Minnesota Athletic Committee and school officials is pending.

Warriors Defeat
Chicago Bulls, 108-107

OAKLAND (AP) — The Golden State Warriors spotted the Chicago Bulls 43 points and got away with it.

"That was the most satisfying win in our hot streak," said Nate Thurmond, the star of Thursday night's 108-107 National Basketball Association victory over Chicago.

It appears the Minnesota hierarchy and the Big Ten Commissioner are the only people in the country who are in doubt as to what happened in the disgraceful affair Tuesday night during the Ohio State-Minnesota basketball game.

They were still looking at film Thursday and talking to people — despite the fact they were there and had a first hand account of what happened.

Certainly there are questions to be answered — But not what happened — But why it happened?

Where was the police protection that should have given the Buckeyes the protection they were entitled to?

Was Minnesota Coach Bill Musselman so engrossed in the possibility that he was looking at a new animal act for his pre-game show, which as far as quite a few people are concerned can be stuffed back down the Gophers' den, that he failed to attempt to control his menagerie?

What about the big goon that was permitted to continue to kick a downed Buckeye in the head after he had already been rendered unconscious?

They must be proud of him. You can bet he's a guy who can beat up any girl on his block and will, without a sign of fear, challenge any 80-year-old man within reach — as long as he is still on his crutches.

These things have no place in the world of sports and drastic action must be taken to counter this performance.

Winning is the name of the game and any athlete who enters competition without the desire to win will certainly end up a loser — but it should never be win at all cost.

There is no shame in losing — Only in the way you lose.

Something must be done about this and we hope the officials have the intestinal fortitude to do it.

One thing is certain — That Minnesota gym will have to be fumigated before they can ever use it again — The stench must be sickening.

Our little gem of information — Catcher Manny Sanguillen, despite his running speed, grounded into 21 double plays with Pittsburgh last season.

Our "fearless" forecast — Circleville will scalp the Indians and sink the Vikings . . . Logan Elm will upend Paint Valley . . . Westfall can take Laurelville . . . It's about time for Lee Trevino to hit his winning stride in the Andy Williams Open.

Until next time, have a nice day — be a good sport.

Tiger Jr. High
Cagers Overwhelm
Mt. Logan, 42-29

Circleville's Junior High cagers came up with a fine defensive effort to down a tall Chillicothe Mt. Logan team, 42-29, Thursday at Chillicothe.

The little Tigers trailed 12-7 at the end of the first period but put defensive pressure on Mt. Logan in the second and third frames when they held them to a total of six points.

Circleville grabbed a 23-16 lead at halftime and pulled out to a 36-18 margin at the conclusion of the third canto.

Biff Bumgarner hooped 18 points and played an excellent floor game to pace the Tigers.

Brent Mancini added 10 tallies, George Moore had six, Mike Lawter four, Frank Merrill three and Steve Penn netted one for the winners.

Price had eight points and Manion six to pace Mt. Logan.

Moore, Merrill and Bumgarner provided rebounding strength for the little Tigers which was a key to the victory.

Coach Jim Diltz sent 15 players into action for Circleville.

It was a sweet victory for the Tigers who earlier in the season had dropped a 55-45 decision to Mt. Logan.

Circleville is now 5-6 for the year and will play Washington C.H. 4:30 p.m. Thursday.

home two years ago and the Reds won the National League pennant.

Last winter he painted the inside. The Reds finished 11½ games behind the San Francisco Giants, tied with Houston for fourth place in the NL's West.

"In 1970, everything fit like a glove. Can you imagine us being 70-30 at one point? It may never happen again to anybody," said Anderson during a stop of the Reds press caravan here Thursday.

"I think the 1972 club will be even more exciting," he said.

Anderson bases that idea on speed, defense and a healthy pitching staff.

The Reds have acquired speedbombs Joe Morgan and Cesar Geronimo from the Astros to go with the fleet Pete Rose and Bobby Tolan, who returns after a torn Achilles heel idled him all of the 1971 season.

"We knew we had to have speed even back in 1970, but it's difficult to make a change after a pennant," Anderson reflected.

Weakened OSU Faces Michigan

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio State Basketball Coach Fred Taylor will start 6-foot-6 sophomore Jack Wolfe or 6-6 senior Gary Kiracofe in place of battered center Luke Witte in the Buckeyes' important Big Ten clash with Michigan Saturday.

Witte and reserve forward Mark Wagar, nursing injuries received in a brawl at Minnesota Tuesday night, will not dress for the game at Wolverine arena.

"Both boys are out Saturday," Dr. Robert Murphy, the team physician, said Thursday. "By definition, they have major concussions." He said it is a rule of thumb with head injuries that a player sit out of contact seven days. A subsequent injury, he added, generally "results in a boy being sidelined from three to six weeks."

The Big Ten lead will be at stake in Saturday's game. The Buckeyes lead with a 4-0 record, while the Wolverines are tied with Minnesota at 4-1 for second place. OSU beat Michigan Jan. 15 in Columbus 84-73.

Two Mid-American Conference games are on Saturday's schedule.

Second-place Ohio University (3-1) invades Kent State, and a win by the Golden Flashes (2-2)

would put them tied with Ohio and Miami behind league-leading Toledo.

Bowling Green, in the MAC cellar with an 0-4 mark, visits Western Michigan. A loss by the Broncos (1-3) would tumble them into last place with the Falcons.

Miami, meanwhile hosts Ball State, Ind., in a non-conference match.

In the Ohio Conference unbeaten Capital hosts Mount Union, while Wooster, also undefeated in league play, greets Kenyon; Denison is at Heidelberg and Marietta visits Baldwin-Wallace.

Other games Saturday: Wittenberg-Dayton, Cincinnati-Richmond, Hiram-Otterbein, Malone-Muskingum, Geneva-Pa.-Ohio Wesleyan, Cedarville-Findlay, Oberlin-Chicago, Bluffton-Hanover, Ind., Thiel-Penn. John Carroll, Point Park, Pa., Ashland, Eastern Michigan Central State, Akron-Youngstown State, Steubenville-St. Vincent's, Pa.

In college basketball action Thursday night, Kenyon crushed Ohio Wesleyan as guard Marty Hunt scored 22 points and grabbed 13 rebounds — tops for the game in both departments.

Wayne State downed Cleveland State 65-54 behind forward Bob Solomon's 21-point performance.

Ex-Dallas Talent Scout Sees Lean Grid Pickings

By DENNE H. FREEMAN

Associated Press Sports Writer DALLAS (AP) — The man whose talent hunts helped build the Super Bowl champion Dallas Cowboys says the 1971 graduating college football crop is the poorest he has seen since he's been in the business.

Gil Brandt, now a club vice president, has thoroughly studied the detailed reports of Dallas' computerized draft system and come to the conclusion: "It's the leanest year I've ever seen."

Brandt says "I hope we can get just one player out of the draft Tuesday to help us. There aren't any lead pipe cinches like last year . . . not many blue chip players."

"For example, there were three quarterbacks last year who were cinches," Brandt explains. "We think the only blue chips this year are Walt Patulski Notre Dame defensive tackle, Bobby Moore, Oregon running back, John Reeves, Florida quarterback, and William Buchanan, San Diego State defensive back."

Brandt says the Cowboys still may come up with a surprise in the draft but not on the order of a Calvin Hill or a Duane Thomas—players other clubs overlooked in the 1969 and 1970 drafts.

"There aren't any undiscovered phenoms out there any more because all the scouting groups are becoming more efficient," Brandt says.

Brandt says, for example, other teams are beginning to comb the small black colleges.

"We were probably the first to actively visit the small black schools," Brandt says. "Remember, we got Jethro Pugh (defensive tackle) and Rayfield Wright (All-Pro offensive tackle) in the draft. Pugh was a 10th round choice and Wright seventh round. Last year Grambling had two players go in the first round. It's not our private preserve anymore although we did get Isaac Thomas from Bishop College last year. However, we had to take him in the second round."

Brandt was asked the reason for the poor quality of the college players now graduating.

"Well, I believe the 1.6 grade point rule is catching up with some of the kids," Brandt says. "There is a lot of good raw material that never gets to college. The Vietnam draft took some kids. And there is not as great an interest in football on the college level among the young people as there was say 10 years ago. Plus, there are not as many kids on scholarship. The schools are cutting down there. There are a number of things—and they all add up."

But Brandt is ever the optimist—even though the Cowboys are drafting last because of their world championship. "There's this kid I'd like to tell you about who could really be something . . ."

Viking Junior Cagers Rip HT

Teays Valley's seventh graders tallied 25 points in the third quarter as they romped over Hamilton Twp., 61-33 Thursday on the latter's floor.

The victory ran the Teays Valley record to 7-0 for the season.

The little Vikings led 12-11 at the end of the first period, 26-17 at halftime and a big third canto gave them a 51-20 bulge at the conclusion of the period.

Tim Tosca tallied 13 points for Teays Valley, Joey Rice had 11, Terry Trego nine, Willie Marcum and Bob Leatherwood each had eight, Charles Morrison six and Gregg Cline, Lance Roses and Keith Evans added two apiece.

Rick Brady had eight markers for Hamilton Twp.

Teays Valley will be at home Tuesday with Jackson furnishing the opposition.

OSU-Minnesota Brawl Probe Winds Up; Conference Set

By GEORGE STRODE

Associated Press Sports Writer COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Big Ten Commissioner Wayne Duke saved his comments on the Ohio State-Minnesota basketball brawl for a press conference today after winding up his investigation Thursday night.

A spokesman for the Big Ten office said Duke planned "further consultations with institutional representatives in Chicago" before his announcement.

The spokesman did not elaborate on the meaning of "institutional representatives."

Officials called the game with 36 seconds to play in Minneapolis Tuesday night and awarded the Buckeyes a 50-44 victory when fights broke out on the court.

Three Ohio State players were taken to the hospital and two of them, regular center Luke Witte and reserve forward Mark Wagar, have major concussions.

The two will not play at Michigan Saturday when the Buckeyes risk their league-leading 4-0 record against the Wolverines, tied for second place at 4-1 with the Gophers.

Meanwhile, Michigan mentor John Orr denied he had offered to Ohio State Coach Fred Taylor to postpone the game until later in the season.

"Orr couldn't do that anyway. It would be up to athletic director Don Canham and we have a capacity crowd coming in here Saturday," a Michigan spokesman said.

Kentucky Colonels Top Indiana, 98-94

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

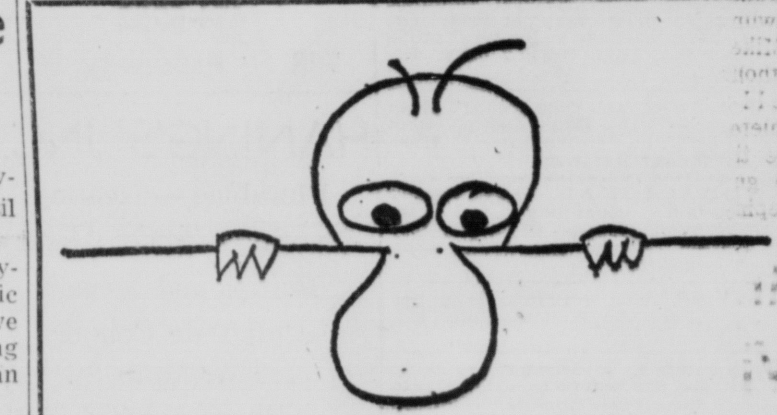

The Kentucky Colonels have a comfortable lead in the East Division of the American Basketball Association, so now they are giving help to Utah, the leader in the West.

The Colonels, sporting a 9½ game lead, played Indiana, No. 2 in the West, Thursday night and dispatched the Pacers 98-94 to drop them four games behind the division-leading Stars.

Utah, for its part, defeated the Memphis Pros 127-120.

In other ABA games, Carolina defeated the Floridians 102-101, New York topped Virginia 114-112, and Dallas beat Denver 99-98.

When Roberto Clemente played for Montreal in 1954 he started only eight of the first 60 games played by the Royals.

Abe Gibron Named Chicago Bears Coach

By CHARLES CHAMBERLAIN
Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — The size of the Chicago Bears' image is bound to change. They have not had a 300-pound head football coach before now.

Abe Gibrion, a beloved beehemoth, was elevated Thursday by owner George Halas from the assistant status he has held since 1965 into the head coaching job.

Gibrion, a good mixer on and off the field with man and martini, replaces Jim Dooley, another Bear-organization man who was fired after the 1971 team plunged to a closing string of five defeats in a 6-8 National Football League season.

Dooley had another year to go on a five-year contract. Gibrion signed a multiyear pact of unannounced duration and salary.

When Halas gave all of Dooley's assistants walking papers with the exception of Abe Gibrion still didn't know he was the guy.

Halas said he plucked about 30 applicants—including a Chicago area priest who was told by Papa Bear that he couldn't serve two masters—before firmly deciding that the Bears would not break a 53-year-old record and hire an "outsider."

"The first time I thought I knew I had the job," said Gibrion, "was Wednesday night. I was told there would be a news conference the next day and to wear a tie and a suit. I had been sweating it out; I was down to under 300 pounds."

Gibrion, 46, was a former offensive captain of the Bears, a seven-year veteran with the Cleveland Browns and Philadelphia Eagles and line coach for the Washington Redskins from 1959 to 1965.

Local Frosh Rally To Nip Mt. Logan

A third quarter rally by Circleville's freshmen cagers earned them a 38-36 decision over Chillicothe Mt. Logan in a real thriller Thursday on the Tiger's floor.

Chillicothe jumped out to a 7-0 lead and maintained a 9-5 edge at the conclusion of the first quarter. They still held an 18-13 advantage at halftime.

Circleville began to cut into the lead in the third canto and grabbed a 25-23 lead at the third period buzzer.

The final period was a nip and tuck affair with Circleville gaining the final edge.

Phil Roll paced Circleville with 15 points. Pat McNaughton had eight. Tim McNaughton six. Perry Hoskins four. Dave Bevan and Bill Massie added two apiece and Doug Palm chipped in with one.

K. Hitchens tallied 13 points to lead Mt. Logan.

Hoskins, who was double teamed throughout the contest, turned in an excellent floor game and defensive effort.

Circleville is now 8-3 and will host the undefeated freshmen of Teays Valley 4:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Minnesota Players Suspended By Coach

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. (AP)—University of Minnesota coach Bill Musselman said Thursday night he has suspended Ron Behagen and Corky Taylor from the squad.

The announcement said the final decision on the suspension by Big Ten Commissioner Wayne Duke and University of Minnesota Athletic Committee and school officials is pending.

Warriors Defeat Chicago Bulls, 108-107

OAKLAND (AP) — The Golden State Warriors spotted the Chicago Bulls 43 points and got away with it.

"That was the most satisfying win in our hot streak," said Nate Thurmond, the star of Thursday night's 108-107 National Basketball Association victory over Chicago.

By BILL MCGAFFNEY
Herald Sports Editor

It appears the Minnesota heirarchy and the Big Ten Commissioner are the only people in the country who are in doubt as to what happened in the disgraceful affair Tuesday night during the Ohio State-Minnesota basketball game.

They were still looking at film Thursday and talking to people — despite the fact they were there and had a first hand account of what happened.

Certainly there are questions to be answered — But not what happened — But why it happened?

Where was the police protection that should have given the Buckeyes the protection they were entitled to?

Was Minnesota Coach Bill Musselman so engrossed in the possibility that he was looking at a new animal act for his pre-game show, which as far as quite a few people are concerned can be stuffed back down the Gophers' den, that he failed to attempt to control his menagerie?

What about the big goon that was permitted to continue to kick a downed Buckeye in the head after he had already been rendered unconscious?

They must be proud of him. You can bet he's a guy who can beat up any girl on his block and will, without a sign of fear, challenge any 80-year-old man within reach — as long as he is still on his crutches.

These things have no place in the world of sports and drastic action must be taken to counter this performance.

Winning is the name of the game and any athlete who enters competition without the desire to win will certainly end up a loser — but it should never be win at all cost.

There is no shame in losing — Only in the way you lose.

Something must be done about this and we hope the officials have the intestinal fortitude to do it.

One thing is certain — That Minnesota gym will have to be fumigated before they can ever use it again — The stench must be sickening.

Our little gem of information — Catcher Manny Sanguillen, despite his running speed, grounded into 21 double plays with Pittsburgh last season.

Our "fearless" forecast — Circleville will scalp the Indians and sink the Vikings . . . Logan Elm will upend Paint Valley . . . Westfall can take Laurelville . . . It's about time for Lee Trevino to hit his winning stride in the Andy Williams Open.

Until next time, have a nice day — be a good sport.

Tiger Jr. High Cagers Overwhelm Mt. Logan, 42-29

Circleville's Junior High cagers came up with a fine defensive effort to down a tall Chillicothe Mt. Logan team, 42-29, Thursday at Chillicothe.

The little Tigers trailed 12-7 at the end of the first period but put defensive pressure on Mt. Logan in the second and third frames when they held them to a total of six points.

Circleville grabbed a 23-16 lead at halftime and pulled out to a 36-18 margin at the conclusion of the third canto.

Biff Bumgarner hooped 18 points and played an excellent floor game to pace the Tigers.

Brent Mancini added 10 tallies, George Moore had six, Mike Lawter four, Frank Merrill three and Steve Penn netted one for the winners.

Price had eight points and Manion six to pace Mt. Logan.

Moore, Merrill and Bumgarner provided rebounding strength for the little Tigers which was a key to the victory.

Coach Jim Diltz sent 15 players into action for Circleville.

It was a sweet victory for the Tigers who earlier in the season had dropped a 55-45 decision to Mt. Logan.

Circleville is now 5-6 for the year and will play Washington C.H. 4:30 p.m. Thursday.

home two years ago and the Reds won the National League pennant.

Last winter he painted the inside. The Reds finished 11½ games behind the San Francisco Giants, tied with Houston for fourth place in the NL's West.

"In 1970, everything fit like a glove. Can you imagine us being 70-30 at one point? It may never happen again to anybody," said Anderson during a stop of the Reds press caravan here Thursday.

"I think the 1972 club will be even more exciting," he said.

Anderson bases that idea on speed, defense and a healthy pitching staff.

The Reds have acquired speedsters Joe Morgan and Cesar Geronimo from the Astros to go with the fleet Pete Rose and Bobby Tolan, who returns after a torn Achilles heel idled him all of the 1971 season.

"We knew we had to have speed even back in 1970, but it's difficult to make a change after a pennant," Anderson reflected.

Denis Menke, also coming from the Astros, at third base, Tolan and Geronimo in the outfield give Cincinnati an improved defense.

"And, if we keep everybody healthy, our pitching could rank one-two-three in either league this year. We've got 14 or 15 pitchers who can stick," Anderson said.

In the bullpen, the aces will be holdover Clay Carroll and southpaw Tom Hall, who pitched for the Minnesota Twins last year.

The left job is a battle among Bernie Carbo, Geronimo and Ted Uhlaender, picked up from the Cleveland Indians.

Anderson won't predict a pennant but he comes close after saying he likes the Giants again.

TO OHIO STATE COACH FRED TAYLOR

to postpone the game until later in the season.

"Orr couldn't do that anyway. It would be up to athletic director Don Canham and we have a capacity crowd coming in here Saturday," a Michigan spokesman said.

Weakened OSU Faces Michigan

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio State Basketball Coach Fred Taylor will start 6-foot-6 sophomore Jack Wolfe or 6-6 senior Gary Kiracofe in place of battered center Luke Witte in the Buckeyes' important Big Ten clash with Michigan Saturday.

Witte and reserve forward Mark Wagar, nursing injuries received in a brawl at Minnesota Tuesday night, will not dress for the game at Wolverine arena.

"Both boys are out Saturday," Dr. Robert Murphy, the team physician, said Thursday.

"By definition, they have major concussions," he said. It is a rule of thumb with head injuries that a player sit out of contact seven days. A subsequent injury, he added, generally "results in a boy being sidelined from three to six weeks."

The Big Ten lead will be at stake in Saturday's game. The Buckeyes lead with a 4-0 record, while the Wolverines are tied with Minnesota at 4-1 for second place. OSU beat Michigan Jan. 15 in Columbus 84-73.

Two Mid-American Conference games are on Saturday's schedule.

Second-place Ohio University (3-1) invades Kent State, and a win by the Golden Flashes (2-2)

would put them tied with Ohio and Miami behind league-leading Toledo.

Bowling Green, in the MAC cellar with an 0-4 mark, visits Western Michigan. A loss by the Broncos (1-3) would tumble them into last place with the Falcons.

Miami, meanwhile hosts Ball State, Ind., in a non-conference match.

In the Ohio Conference unbeaten Capital hosts Mount Union, while Wooster, also undefeated in league play, greets Kenyon. Denison is at Heidelberg and Marietta visits Baldwin-Wallace.

Other games Saturday: Wittenberg-Dayton, Cincinnati-Richmond, Hiram-Otterbein, Malone-Muskingum, Geneva, Pa.-Ohio Wesleyan, Cedarville-Findlay, Oberlin-Chicago, Bluffton-Hanover, Ind., Thiel-Penn. State, Akron-Youngstown State, Steubenville-Vincennes, Pa.

In college basketball action Thursday night, Kenyon crushed Ohio Wesleyan 75-42. guard Marty Hunt scored 22 points and grabbed 13 rebounds — tops for the game in both departments.

Youngstown State notched its 14th victory in 16 games at the expense of Steubenville, 88-57. Bill Johnson and Dave Burkholder paced the Penguins with 20 and 17 points, respectively.

Wayne State downed Cleveland State 65-54 behind forward Bob Solomon's 21-point performance.

Ex-Dallas Talent Scout Sees Lean Grid Pickings

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) — The man whose talent hunts helped build the Super Bowl champion Dallas Cowboys says the 1971 graduating college football crop is the poorest he has seen since he's been in the business.

Gil Brandt, now a club vice president, has thoroughly studied the detailed reports of Dallas' computerized draft system and come to the conclusion: "It's the leanest year I've ever seen."

Brandt says "I hope we can get just one player out of the draft Tuesday to help us. There aren't any lead pipe cinches like last year . . . not many blue chip players."

"For example, there were three quarterbacks last year who were cinches," Brandt explains. "We think the only blue chips this year are Walt Patulski Notre Dame defensive tackle, Bobby Moore, Oregon running back, John Reeves, Florida quarterback, and William Buchanan, San Diego State defensive back."

Brandt says the Cowboys still may come up with a surprise in the draft but not on the order of a Calvin Hill or a Duane Thomas—players other clubs overlooked in the 1969 and 1970 drafts.

"There aren't any undiscovered phenoms out there anymore because all the scouting groups are becoming more efficient," Brandt says.

Brandt says, for example, other teams are beginning to comb the small black colleges.

"We were probably the first to actively visit the small black schools," Brandt says. "Remember, we got Jethro Pugh (defensive tackle) and Rayfield Wright (All-Pro offensive tackle) in the draft. Pugh was a 10th round choice and Wright seventh round. Last year Grambling had two players go in the first round. It's not our private preserve anymore although we did get Isaac Thomas from Bishop College last year. However, we had to take him in the second round."

Brandt was asked the reason for the poor quality of the college players now graduating.

"Well, I believe the 1.6 grade point rule is catching up with some of the kids," Brandt says. "There is a lot of good raw material that never gets to college. The Vietnam draft took some kids. And there is not as great an interest in football on the college level among the young people as there was say 10 years ago. Plus, there are not as many kids on scholarship. The schools are cutting down there. There are a number of things—and they all add up."

But Brandt is ever the optimist—even though the Cowboys are drafting last because of their world championship.

"There's this kid I'd like to tell you about who could really be something . . ."

OSU-Minnesota Brawl Probe Winds Up; Conference Set

By GEORGE STRODE
Associated Press Sports Writer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Big Ten Commissioner Wayne Duke saved his comments on the Ohio State-Minnesota basketball brawl for a press conference today after winding up his investigation Thursday night.

A spokesman for the Big Ten office said Duke planned "further consultations with institutional representatives in Chicago" before his announcement.

The spokesman did not elaborate on the meaning of "institutional representatives."

Officials called the game with 36 seconds to play in Minneapolis Tuesday night and awarded the Buckeyes a 50-44 victory when fights broke out on the court.

Three Ohio State players were taken to the hospital and two of them, regular center Luke Witte and reserve forward Mark Wagar, have major concussions.

The two will not play at Michigan Saturday when the Buckeyes risk their league-leading 4-0 record against the Wolverines, tied for second place at 4-1 with the Gophers.

Meanwhile, Michigan mentor John Orr denied he had offered to Ohio State Coach Fred Taylor to postpone the game until later in the season.

"Orr couldn't do that anyway. It would be up to athletic director Don Canham and we have a capacity crowd coming in here Saturday," a Michigan spokesman said.

Kentucky Colonels Top Indiana, 98-94

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

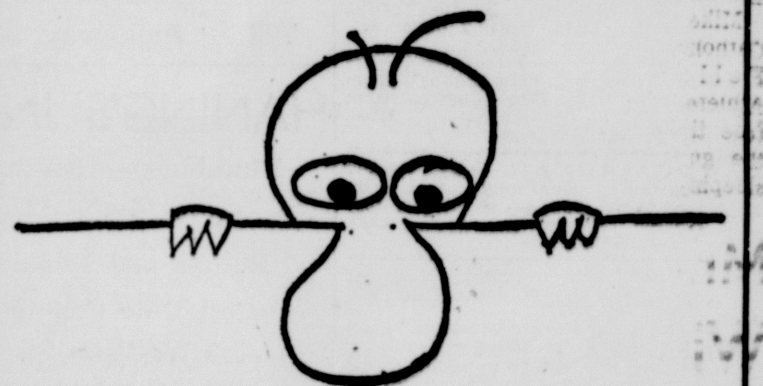

The Kentucky Colonels have a comfortable lead in the East Division of the American Basketball Association, so now they are giving help to Utah, the leader in the West.

The Colonels, sporting a 9½ game lead, played Indiana, No. 2 in the West, Thursday night and dispatched the Pacers 98-94 to drop them four games behind the division-leading Stars.

Utah, for its part, defeated the Memphis Pros 127-120.

In other ABA games, Carolina defeated the Floridians 102-101, New York topped Virginia 114-112, and Dallas beat Denver 99-98.

When Roberto Clemente played for Montreal in 1954 he started only eight of the first 60 games played by the Royals.

1. Card of Thanks

We wish to thank all who were so kind and thoughtful for sending us such lovely cards and gifts for our Golden Wedding Anniversary.
It was deeply appreciated.
Mr. and Mrs. Delno Dennis

We wish to express our sincere and heartfelt thanks to our wonderful neighbors, friends, and relatives for their many acts of kindness, the comforting cards, prayers, the gifts of food and the beautiful offering, at the time of the sudden death of our beloved husband, father, and grandfather, Wayne Stonerock. Also we wish to express special thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln Mader and associate at the Mader Funeral Home, Dr.
Robert McCoy, Rev. Clyde Albright and pallbearers. All was deeply appreciated.
A precious one from us has gone
A voice we loved is still
A place is vacant in our home
That never can be filled.
So sadly missed by wife Leona, daughter, Betty and grandchildren

ORDINANCE NO. 90-71
AN ORDINANCE ESTABLISHING AN ADDITIONAL TAPPING FEE FOR CONNECTING TO THE SANITARY SEWAGE COLLECTION SYSTEM BY ENACTING SECTION 923.15 OF THE CODIFIED ORDINANCES OF THE CITY OF CIRCLEVILLE.
BE IT ORDAINED BY THE COUNCIL OF THE CITY OF CIRCLEVILLE:
SECTION 1: There is hereby enacted Section 923.15 of the Codified Ordinances of the City of Circleville to read as follows:
"923.15 ADDITIONAL FEE.
All persons making a connection to the sanitary sewerage collection system or altering or changing the use of the land served where there is an existing connection as contemplated herein shall pay to the City of Circleville, in addition to the charges provided in Section 923.07 and 923.08 of the Codified Ordinances of the City of Circleville the following fees:
a. For single dwelling units for which a sewer permit is needed, the charge shall be $200.00.
b. Multiple family dwelling structure for which a sewer permit is needed the charge shall be $300.00 for each family unit.
c. For any structure intended partially or wholly for commercial purposes, for which a sewer permit is needed, the charge shall be $400.00 for the first commercial unit proposed for the structure, plus $300.00 per unit for each additional unit proposed. Dwelling units in commercial structures shall be charged as in "b" above. (Commercial is defined as an establishment whose principal activity is to provide merchandise or services to those who need them.) A commercial unit shall consist of a structure or part thereof having 15,000 square feet or less.
d. For any structure intended partially or wholly for industrial purposes for which a sewer permit is needed, the charge shall be $750.00 for each industrial unit proposed for the structure. Commercial units in industrial structures will be charged as in "c" above. (Industry is defined as any activity where materials are received, are altered by one or more internal operations, and then dispatched in the altered form.) An industrial unit shall consist of a structure or part thereof having 40,000 square feet or less.
e. All municipal, county and state activities shall be charged as commercial providing services.
f. The Board of Public Utilities shall administer the collection of this fee, and it is hereby granted authority as may be necessary to collect the same, including the right to withhold issuance of a permit, until said fee is paid. The fees shall be credited to a separate fund called "Sanitary Sewer Improvement and Extension Fund."
SECTION 2: That this ordinance is declared to be an emergency measure, necessary for the preservation of the health, safety and welfare of the City of Circleville and the inhabitants thereof, and for the further reason that immediate establishment of sewer connection fee and charges is necessary to enable the City to go forward with necessary improvements needed in the existing system, therefore this ordinance shall take effect and be in force upon its passage and approval.

ORDINANCE NO. 90-71
AN ORDINANCE ESTABLISHING AN ADDITIONAL TAPPING FEE FOR CONNECTING TO THE SANITARY SEWAGE COLLECTING SYSTEM BY ENACTING SECTION 923.15 OF THE CODIFIED ORDINANCES OF THE CITY OF CIRCLEVILLE.

SECTION 1: There is hereby enacted Section 923.15 of the Codified Ordinances of the City of Circleville to read as follows:

923.15 ADDITIONAL FEE.
All persons making a connection to the sanitary sewage collecting system or altering or changing the use of the land served where there is an existing connection as contemplated hereinafter, shall pay to the City of Circleville, in addition to the charges provided in Section 923.07 and 923.08 of the Codified Ordinances of the City of Circleville the following fees:

a. For single dwelling units for which a sewer permit is needed, the charge shall be $200.00.
b. Multiple family dwelling structures for which a sewer permit is needed the charge shall be $200.00 for each family unit.
c. For any structure intended partially or wholly for commercial purposes, for which a sewer permit is needed, the charge shall be $400.00 for the first commercial unit proposed for the structure, plus $200.00 per unit for each additional unit proposed. Dwelling units in commercial structures shall be charged as in "b" above.

(Commercial is defined as an establishment whose principal activity is to provide merchandise or services to those who need them.) A commercial unit shall consist of a structure or part thereof having 15,000 square feet or less.
d. For any structure intended partially or wholly for industrial purposes for which a sewer permit is needed, the charge shall be $750.00 for the first industrial unit proposed for the structure. Commercial units in industrial structures will be charged as in "c" above. (Industry is defined as any activity where materials are received, are altered by one or more internal operations, and then dispatched in the altered form.) An industrial unit shall consist of a structure or part thereof having 40,000 square feet or less.

e. All municipal, county and state activities shall be classified as commercial providing services.
f. All churches, schools, hospitals and other services organizations shall be classified as commercial providing services.
The Board of Public Utilities shall administer the collection of this fee, and it is hereby granted authority as may be necessary to collect the same, including the right to withhold issuance of a permit, until said fee is paid. The fees shall be credited to a separate fund called "Sanitary Sewer, Improvement and Extension Fund."

SECTION 2: That this ordinance is declared to be an emergency measure, necessary for the preservation of the health, safety and welfare of the City of Circleville and the inhabitants thereof, and the further reason that immediate establishment of sewer connection fee and charges is necessary to enable the City to go forward with necessary improvements needed in the existing system; therefore this ordinance shall take effect and be in force upon its passage and approval.

Low-Ranking Candidates May Not Get Protection

WASHINGTON (AP) — A plan to provide Secret Service protection for presidential candidates according to their standing in public-opinion polls could exclude two prominent Democratic hopefuls: Sens. George S. McGovern and Henry M. Jackson.

The plan, drawn up Thursday by the Candidate Protection Advisory Commission and likely to be accepted by Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally, could give protection to the party's most prominent noncandidate, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

The protection is unlikely to begin until March 20, which means the current large field of Democratic candidates will have to campaign through the March 7 New Hampshire and March 14 Florida primaries without the aid of the Secret Service.

But those primaries could narrow the field of candidates.

Under the commission proposal, Secret Service protection would be provided starting March 20 to announced candidates receiving at least 5 percent in either the Harris or Gallup polls, and unannounced candidates receiving 20 percent in either poll "subject to the legal determination of the secretary of the Treasury under the law."

The most recent polls show Sens. Edmund S. Muskie and Hubert H. Humphrey well above 5 percent, and former Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy and New York Mayor John V. Lindsay at or barely above that figure.

McGovern and Jackson, however, are below the level in the latest Gallup poll, barely at it in a recent Harris poll.

Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama, also seeking the Democratic presidential nomination prior to a likely repeat of his 1968 third-party race, has not been measured in the recent Gallup and Harris polls.

Other announced candidates below the 5-per-cent level include Los Angeles Mayor Samuel F. Yorty, Indiana Sen. Vance Hartke and New York Rep. Shirley Crisholm.

As for Kennedy, he has consistently run above the 20-percent mark in both polls, while stating he is not and won't be a candidate this year.

The plan for protection of candidates was enacted after the 1968 assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy on the night of his victory in the California Democratic primary.

Design Approval Requested For Ohio 674 Project

Location and design approval for proposed improvement of a section of Ohio 674 in Pickaway and Fairfield counties has been requested from the Ohio Department of Highways central office by the department's division office at Delaware.

A department public hearing for the proposal was held at Ashville, Aug. 12.

Plans call for reconstructing and widening 2.1 miles of existing 16-foot pavement to 20 feet with eight-foot berms and necessary drainage. Three narrow bridges would be replaced with small concrete pipes under the roadway. Minor grade and alignment adjustment is included in the project, extending from Ohio 752 to Marcy Road.

Maps, sketches, environmental factors and all other information concerning the improvement, are available to the public for viewing at the department's division office, 400 E. William St., Delaware.

Acquit Russell Of Destruction At Coal Mine

CARROLLTON, Ohio (AP) — A Carroll County Common Pleas Court jury has acquitted United Mine Workers organizer James Russell of a charge of malicious destruction of property at the James Brothers Coal Co. mine last October.

The jury of eight women and four men deliberated two-and-one-half hours in reaching its verdict Thursday night, ending a trial that started Jan. 17.

Russell, 38, of New Philadelphia, was accused of destroying a truck owned by Ernest Bowman, the weight-master, when a band of roving pickets caused damage estimated at $250,000 at the nonunion mine near Mineral City Oct. 16.

Trial dates have not been set for six other charges on which Russell was indicted — first-degree riot, inciting to riot, assault on a Carroll County deputy sheriff and three other counts of malicious destruction of property.

Air Controllers Approve Contract

OTTAWA (AP) — Full airline service over Canada is expected to be restored by mid-night following an agreement by the nation's 1,600 air controllers to return to work and submit their demands for higher wages and shorter hours to arbitration.

International and domestic carriers announced resumption of flights on the heels of the agreement Thursday to give mediator Noel Hall arbitrator's authority in the dispute between the Canadian Air Traffic Control Association and the federal Treasury Board. Hall has a deadline of March 17 to make an award.

The end of the 11-day walkout meant a return to work for some 15,000 idled airline employees. The lines estimated their combined losses at $2 million to $3 million a day.

Red Skelton Says He'll Keep Busy

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Comedian Red Skelton says he still plans to keep busy in the entertainment field but won't schedule any more personal appearances.

"I have eight still remaining that were booked in advance. But, after that, I won't appear anywhere in person again," Skelton said.

SCOPS To Meet

South Central Ohio Preservation Society (SCOPS) will meet 1 p.m. Feb. 5 in the Highland House, Hillsboro.

Highland House is the museum of the Highland County Historical Society.

BLACK JUDGE — Peter Hall will begin his duties as a Recorder's Court judge, the first Black judge in Birmingham.

Price Chairman Goes Snooping In D.C. Stores

WASHINGTON (AP) — Price Commission Chairman C. Jackson Grayson says he has personally turned to snooping among store shelves without shopkeepers knowing he is there.

The object of all the detective work, he told consumer activists today, was to see what problems the typical consumer faces in the market place.

But generally, Grayson said, he was pleased with what he found during his sleuthing excursion. Washington-area stores which he visited were for the most part in excellent compliance with Price Commission regulations, he said.

Grayson revealed his shopping trip in a speech prepared for the convention of the Consumer Federation of America, largest consumer organization in the nation.

Lana Turner Gets Marriage Dissolved

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Lana Turner has been granted a divorce from nightclub entertainer Ronald Dante, ending her seventh marriage.

The decree dissolving the marriage was issued Wednesday by Superior Court Judge Roscoe E. Farley, who took the matter of division of community property under study.

Miss Turner, 50, and Dante, 51, were married on May 8 1969 and separated six months later.

Confusion . . .

generally that manufacturers and service organizations can't raise prices except to cover increased costs, reduced to reflect gains in worker productivity, and can't increase their profit margins.

Retailers and wholesalers, except for the small retailers who are exempt from controls, cannot increase profit margins or markups, meaning their prices can't rise unless their suppliers' prices rise.

Although profit margins are frozen, actual profits may rise if sales go up. Also, firms that have been losing money are subject to temporary special rules allowing them to at least break even. Special rules also apply to utilities, doctors, hospitals, insurance and residential rents.

The nation's 1,500 biggest firms must notify the Price Commission in advance of any proposed price increases. Medium-size companies report quarterly and small firms are subject only to spot checks.

The administration relies mainly on voluntary compliance with the rules, but admits they are so complicated that it is all but impossible for the average consumer to know if he is being overcharged.

RENTS

The rules are complex. The smallest landlords, those who own no more than four units and live in one of them, are free from federal controls. Also, units that were previously subject to state or local rent controls, chiefly in New York City and around Miami and Boston, continue under those rules.

For others, rents generally may go up automatically by 2.5 per cent after 30 days' notice to the tenant. In addition, landlords may pass along any new state or local government taxes, and certain fees. Increases also are allowable for improvements. Special rules apply to formula-determined rents, and different methods are used for determining the base rent depending on whether rental is by the month or week, or by longer lease.

WAGES

The Pay Board has begun to apply its 5.5-per-cent wage standard strictly to small unions, after falling into a pattern of granting far larger raises to big, powerful unions.

Generally, the board's policy is that raises in new contracts can't exceed 5.5 per cent a year. Special circumstances such as a proven need to attract or hold new employees or substandard raises in recent past years, may qualify some wage units for raises up to 7 per cent, but no more. Special rules also apply to merit pay, executive pay and other areas.

However, the full board can approve specific exceptions to its own rules anytime it chooses.

First Novelist Avery Corman Started Out Writing Plays

By PHIL THOMAS
AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — Writer Avery Corman jokes that when his first novel was accepted by the first publisher to read the manuscript "it was the first time in my life I was free of rejections."

His recently published "Oh, God!" also has provided another first for Corman, an amiable 36-year-old with a thick mustache and longish hair. With the novel sold to the movies and to a paperback house, he says with a pleased smile that "for the first time in my life I don't have to worry about paying the rent."

It took Corman about a year to write "Oh, God!" — a good-natured, yet biting at times, story about a struggling freelance writer who gets in his mail "a sheet of plain white bond paper and typed on an electric typewriter it said: 'God grants you an interview.'"

The interview and the waves it causes in society are the substance of the novel.

"I was thinking once," Corman explains, "about what kind of God must it be to have conceived the world we live in. I thought, what if I got some of those questions answered first hand? What if God showed up and gave me an interview?"

"I felt this would make something nice to write. I did, and as I got deeper into it I realized I'd found a way to deal with my own feelings about God. I'm no theologian — that's why I thought I could do this novel. About how an average person would relate to and need God. If I were a theologian it would have been a different novel."

Corman, who lives with his wife and young son on the ground floor of a Manhattan brownstone, became a novelist by a rather roundabout process. He decided on a business career early in life, went to college and "almost failed bookkeeping as a freshman, but I struggled through and got my degree in marketing."

But after a short stint in magazine promotion, Corman says "I just dropped out. Why? Because I thought it would be fun to write a play." He wrote the play, but unable to sell it he turned to writing educational films.

"The films were very successful," Corman says, "and they gave me money each year. That really bought me the time to write."

Corman kept on turning out plays but decided to switch mediums after "I had just written what I thought was my most possible play. It had been optioned by a producer, but then the whole thing began to lose momentum. Since I had invested at least five years in writing plays, I decided at this point it would be an act of masochism to begin another play. So I turned to the novel."

Corman currently is at work turning his novel into a screenplay and after that he plans to get to work on another novel. "It will be autobiographical, but not a memoir," he says, but then, stops, laughs, and refuses to discuss it any further, explaining:

"I'm a true paranoid about work projects. If I told anyone I'd get such anxiety it could worry me to death."

Tool Company To Close Doors

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — National Tool Co., one of the country's largest makers of special cutting tools, has ceased operation, leaving more than 200 employees and officials out of work.

Mayfran, Inc., had entered into a conditional agreement to purchase 80 per cent of the outstanding stock of National Cleveland Corp., of which the 69-year-old tool company was an operating division. But Kermit Barker, National Tool president, said Mayfran terminated the agreement because of "a worsening financial condition and inability to work out modifications to the union contract satisfactory to Mayfran."

The firm's small subsidiary in Newport, Tenn., also was closed, Barker said. Eighteen employees were affected there.

Low-Ranking Candidates May Not Get Protection

WASHINGTON (AP) — A plan to provide Secret Service protection for presidential candidates according to their standing in public-opinion polls could exclude two prominent Democratic hopefuls: Sens. George S. McGovern and Henry M. Jackson.

The plan, drawn up Thursday by the Candidate Protection Advisory Commission and likely to be accepted by Secretary of the Treasury John B. Connally, could give protection to the party's most prominent noncandidate, Sen. Edward M. Kennedy.

The protection is unlikely to begin until March 20, which means the current large field of Democratic candidates will have to campaign through the March 7 New Hampshire and March 14 Florida primaries without the aid of the Secret Service.

But those primaries could narrow the field of candidates.

Under the commission proposal, Secret Service protection would be provided starting March 20 to announced candidates receiving at least 5 per cent in either the Harris or Gallup polls, and unannounced candidates receiving 20 per cent in either poll "subject to the legal determination of the secretary of the Treasury under the law."

The most recent polls show Sens. Edmund S. Muskie and Hubert H. Humphrey well above 5 per cent, and former Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy and New York Mayor John V. Lindsay at or barely above that figure.

McGovern and Jackson, however, are below the level in the latest Gallup poll, barely at it in a recent Harris poll.

Gov. George C. Wallace of Alabama, also seeking the Democratic presidential nomination prior to a likely repeat of his 1968 third-party race, has not been measured in the recent Gallup and Harris polls.

Other announced candidates below the 5-per-cent level include Los Angeles Mayor Samuel F. Yorty, Indiana Sen. Vance Hartke and New York Rep. Shirley Chisholm.

As for Kennedy, he has consistently run above the 20-per-cent mark in both polls, while stating he is not and won't be a candidate this year.

The plan for protection of candidates was enacted after the 1968 assassination of Sen. Robert F. Kennedy on the night of his victory in the California Democratic primary.

Design Approval Requested For Ohio 674 Project

Location and design approval for proposed improvement of a section of Ohio 674 in Pickaway and Fairfield counties has been requested from the Ohio Department of Highways central office by the department's division office at Delaware.

A department public hearing for the proposal was held at Ashville, Aug. 12.

Plans call for reconstructing and widening 2.1 miles of existing 16-foot pavement to 20 feet with eight-foot berms and necessary drainage. Three narrow bridges would be replaced with small concrete piers under the roadway. Minor grade and alignment adjustment is included in the project, extending from Ohio 752 to Marcy Road.

Maps, sketches, environmental factors and all other information concerning the improvement, are available to the public for viewing at the department's division office, 400 E. William St., Delaware.

Acquit Russell Of Destruction At Coal Mine

CARROLLTON, Ohio (AP) — A Carroll County Common Pleas Court jury has acquitted United Mine Workers organizer James Russell of a charge of malicious destruction of property at the James Brothers Coal Co. mine last October.

The jury of eight women and four men deliberated two-and-one-half hours in reaching its verdict Thursday night, ending a trial that started Jan. 17.

Russell, 38, of New Philadelphia, was accused of destroying a truck owned by Ernest Bowman, the weight-master, when a band of roving pickets caused damage estimated at $250,000 at the nonunion mine near Mineral City Oct. 16.

Trial dates have not been set for six other charges on which Russell was indicted — first-degree riot, inciting to riot, assault on a Carroll County deputy sheriff and three other counts of malicious destruction of property.

Air Controllers

Approve Contract

OTTAWA (AP) — Full airline service over Canada is expected to be restored by midnight following an agreement by the nation's 1,600 air controllers to return to work and submit their demands for higher wages and shorter hours to arbitration.

International and domestic carriers announced resumption of flights on the heels of the agreement Thursday to give mediator Noel Hall arbitrator's authority in the dispute between the Canadian Air Traffic Control Association and the federal Treasury Board. Hall has a deadline of March 17 to make an award.

The end of the 11-day walkout meant a return to work for some 15,000 idled airline employees. The lines estimated their combined losses at $2 million to $3 million a day.

Red Skelton Says He'll Keep Busy

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Comedian Red Skelton says he still plans to keep busy in the entertainment field but won't schedule any more personal appearances.

"I have eight still remaining that were booked in advance. But, after that, I won't appear anywhere in person again," Skelton said.

Price Chairman Goes Snooping In D.C. Stores

WASHINGTON (AP) — Price Commission Chairman C. Jackson Grayson says he has personally turned to snooping among store shelves without shopkeepers knowing he is there.

The object of all the detective work, he told consumer activists today, was to see what problems the typical consumer faces in the market place.

But generally, Grayson said, he was pleased with what he found during his sleuthing excursion. Washington-area stores which he visited were for the most part in excellent compliance with Price Commission regulations, he said.

Grayson revealed his shopping trip in a speech prepared for the convention of the Consumer Federation of America, largest consumer organization in the nation.

Lana Turner Gets Marriage Dissolved

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP) — Lana Turner has been granted a divorce from nightclub entertainer Ronald Dante, ending her seventh marriage.

The decree dissolving the marriage was issued Wednesday by Superior Court Judge Roscoe E. Farley, who took the matter of division of community property under study.

Miss Turner, 50, and Dante, 51, were married on May 8, 1969 and separated six months later.

Confusion . . .

generally that manufacturers and service organizations can't raise prices except to cover increased costs, reduced to reflect gains in worker productivity, and can't increase their profit margins.

Retailers and wholesalers, except for the small retailers who are exempt from controls, cannot increase profit margins or markups, meaning their prices can't rise unless their suppliers' prices rise.

Although profit margins are frozen, actual profits may rise if sales go up. Also, firms that have been losing money are subject to temporary special rules allowing them to at least break even. Special rules also apply to utilities, doctors, hospitals, insurance and residential rents.

The nation's 1,500 biggest firms must notify the Price Commission in advance of any proposed price increases. Medium-size companies report quarterly and small firms are subject only to spot checks.

The administration relies mainly on voluntary compliance with the rules, but admits they are so complicated that it is all but impossible for the average consumer to know if he is being overcharged.

RENTS

The rules are complex. The smallest landlords, those who own no more than four units and live in one of them, are free from federal controls. Also, units that were previously subject to state or local rent controls, chiefly in New York City and around Miami and Boston, continue under those rules.

For others, rents generally may go up automatically by 2.5 per cent after 30 days' notice to the tenant. In addition, landlords may pass along any new state or local government taxes, and certain fees. Increases also are allowable for improvements. Special rules apply to formula-determined rents, and different methods are used for determining the base rent depending on whether rental is by the month or week, or by longer lease.

WAGES

The Pay Board has begun to apply its 5.5-per-cent wage standard strictly to small unions, after falling into a pattern of granting far larger raises to big, powerful unions.

Generally, the board's policy is that raises in new contracts can't exceed 5.5 per cent a year. Special circumstances such as a proven need to attract or hold new employees or substantial raises in recent past years, may qualify some wage units for raises up to 7 per cent, but no more. Special rules also apply to merit pay, executive pay and other areas.

However, the full board can approve specific exceptions to its own rules anytime it chooses.

First Novelist Avery Corman Started Out Writing Plays

AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Writer Avery Corman jokes that when his first novel was accepted by the first publisher to read the manuscript "it was the first time in my life I was free of rejections."

His recently published "Oh, God!" also has provided another first for Corman, an amiable 36-year-old with a thick mustache and longish hair. With the novel sold to the movies and to a paperback house, he says with a pleased smile that "for the first time in my life I don't have to worry about paying the rent."

It took Corman about a year to write "Oh, God!" — a good-natured, yet biting at times, story about a struggling freelance writer who gets in his mail "a sheet of plain white bond paper and typed on an electric typewriter it said: 'God grants you an interview.'" The interview and the waves it causes in society are the substance of the novel.

"I was thinking once," Corman explains, "about what kind of God must it be to have conceived the world we live in. I thought, what if I got some of those questions answered first hand? What if God showed up and gave me an interview?"

"I felt this would make something nice to write. I did, and as I got deeper into it I realized I'd found a way to deal with my own feelings about God. I'm no theologian — that's why I thought I could do this novel. About how an average person would relate to and need God. If I were a theologian it would have been a different novel."

Corman, who lives with his wife and young son on the ground floor of a Manhattan brownstone, became a novelist by a rather roundabout process. He decided on a business career early in life, went to college and "almost failed bookkeeping as a freshman, but I struggled through and got my degree in marketing."

But after a short stint in magazine promotion, Corman says "I just dropped out. Why? Because I thought it would be fun to write a play." He wrote the play, but unable to sell it he turned to writing educational films.

"The films were very successful," Corman says, "and they gave me money each year. That really bought me the time to write."

Corman kept on turning out plays but decided to switch mediums after "I had just written what I thought was my most possible play. It had been optioned by a producer, but then the whole thing began to lose momentum. Since I had invested at least five years in writing plays, I decided at this point it would be an act of masochism to begin another play. So I turned to the novel."

Corman currently is at work turning his novel into a screenplay and after that he plans to get to work on another novel. "It will be autobiographical, but not a memoir," he says, but then, stops, laughs, and refuses to discuss it any further, explaining:

"I'm a true paranoid about work projects. If I told anymore I'd get such anxiety it could worry me to death."

Tool Company To Close Doors

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — National Tool Co., one of the country's largest makers of special cutting tools, has ceased operation, leaving more than 200 employees and officials out of work.

Mayfran, Inc., had entered into a conditional agreement to purchase 80 per cent of the outstanding stock of National Cleveland Corp., of which the 69-year-old tool company was an operating division. But Kermit Barker, National Tool president, said Mayfran terminated the agreement because of "a worsening financial condition and inability to work out modifications to the union contract satisfactory to Mayfran."

The firm's small subsidiary in Newport, Tenn., also was closed, Barker said. Eighteen employees were affected there.
